

Zingsheim Heading Draft of Schneider For Mayor Contest

Alderman Admits Being Urged; Refuses to Disclose His Decision

Dick F. Zingsheim said today he is not a candidate for mayor of Appleton, but is heading an informal movement to draft Ald. Thomas K. Schneider to run.

Schneider Zingsheim

Zingsheim took out nomination papers Friday and there were almost immediate rumors he was circulating the papers in behalf of Schneider.

Schneider, who represents the south side's Thirteenth ward, today refused to disclose his position, but did report he has twice tried to discourage Zingsheim.

Said Schneider: "I told him I have not authorized anyone either to take out papers on my behalf or to circulate them."

"I told him that while I had been urged to run, by many people, including business and labor leaders, I have not made up my mind."

"I told him that if in the event I did decide to enter the race I would draw and circulate my own papers."

Asked whether he has made a decision, he replied, "No comment."

Schneider said Zingsheim told him of his plans Thursday night, but he didn't regard the statements as serious.

One of Several
When he heard Friday that Zingsheim actually had taken papers Schneider said he hastened to advise press and radio that Zingsheim's activities were not authorized by him.

Schneider said he repeated his stand to Zingsheim Monday night after Zingsheim showed him a completely filled nomination paper with his (Schneider's) name at the top.

"I pointed out to him," said Schneider, "that the paper

Reuss Seeks More Public Service by TV

Washington—(AP)—Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) introduced legislation today aimed, in his words, at requiring the television-radio industry to put more emphasis on educational, cultural and public service programs.

Among other things, his bill would require the federal communications commission to set minimum standards of public service programming. It would also establish a system of competitive bidding for broadcasting licenses.

Under the proposed system, broadcasting licenses would go to applicants bidding highest in terms of public service programs and in terms of cash.

Funds received from the bidding would go into a special fund to provide loans or grants to nonprofit broadcasting stations or organizations.

"The American people and the congress are deeply disturbed, and justly so, at what has been going on in the commercial broadcasting industry," Reuss said in a statement which referred to the recent disclosures of rigged TV quiz shows and payola rackets.

Even as Reuss introduced his bill, John E. McCoy, vice president of Storer Broadcasting company, was telling the federal communications commission that government controls over broadcast programs should be kept at a minimum.

President to Ask Postal Rate Boost

Washington—(AP)—President Eisenhower plans to call again for an increase in postal rates, Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) said today.

Halleck and other Republican congressional leaders were given a preview at the White House of Eisenhower's budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Nevil Shute, British Author, Succumbs in Melbourne Hospital

Melbourne—(AP)—Best selling British author Nevil Shute, 60, died in a hospital here tonight.

He suffered a stroke earlier in the day.

Shute was the author of the book "On the Beach," which was a best seller in America and recently had its premier as a film. It tells the story of the end of the human race through a nuclear war.

Shute's real name was Nevil Shute Norway. In addition to a long and successful career as a novelist, he also had a career in aviation. He flew the Atlantic twice in 1930 in a dirigible.

Among his other novels were "The Far Country," also made into a movie; "Pastoral," "Requiem for a Wren" and "In the Wet." "On the Beach" was his last and most successful book, published in 1957.

He also wrote his autobiography, called "Slide Rule." Shute was a graduate of Oxford university in England and a fellow of the Royal Aeronautical society.

Eyes and Ears Failing

Green, Rhode Island Senator, Won't Run

Providence, R.I.—(AP)—Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.), at 92, the oldest person ever to serve in congress, will call it quits after four terms.

Green gave failing eyesight and hearing as his reason in a letter to Frank Rao, Sen. Green's state Democratic chairman, who read it at a state committee meeting last night. The elderly lawmaker had cataracts removed from both eyes within a year.

Green's decision to forego a bid for reelection next November, created a stir in the party which has a great number of members who are anxious to step into the post.

Some party leaders expressed belief U.S. Rep. John E. Fogarty will seek the Democratic nomination. One Republican has announced his candidacy for the senate. He is Raoul Archambault who resigned only a few days ago as an assistant in the U.S. Bureau of the Budget.

Started in 1906
Green resigned last year as chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, giving failing eyesight as a reason.

Green began his political career in 1906 when elected to the Rhode Island house of representatives. He served two terms as governor and first was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1934.

Green wrote: "While my doctors have advised me that the recent operations on my eyes were successful, I feel that my eyesight and hearing have not sufficiently improved for me either to conduct a vigorous campaign for reelection, or, if elected, to serve a fifth 6-year term as U.S. senator."

"I deeply appreciate the many communications I have received from Rhode Island constituents urging me again to be a candidate for the senate. After a considerable thought I have decided not to seek reelection."

Ike Urges End Of Ceiling on Interest Rates

Blames Congress For Boosting Cost Of National Debt

Washington—(AP)—President Eisenhower today called on congress to remove what he called the archaic 4½ percent interest rate ceiling on long term government bonds.

In a brief and forceful message—the first special message of the new session of congress—Eisenhower blamed congress for boosting the cost of carrying the national debt.

"I deem it imperative, therefore, that this restrictive ceiling be removed," the president wrote.

Short-Term Debt Grows
"I am asking the secretary of the treasury to transmit to the congress proposed legislation designed to attain this objective."

Because of objections by many members to high and rising interest charges, congress did not approve last year ceiling-removal action which Eisenhower described as most urgent.

"Congressional inaction on that request has resulted in a much more rapid increase in short-term debt than would otherwise have occurred," today's message said.

"As a result, short-term treasury borrowing costs have risen to the highest levels in several decades and the ability of debt management to operate in a manner consistent with sound principles of sustained economic growth has been seriously undermined."

Confesses He Stole $21,142
Winona, Minn.—(AP)—Arthur Dorn, 62, former Winona county treasurer, pleaded guilty in district court here Monday to embezzling $21,142.29 in county funds which he said he had "just frittered away."

Judge Arnold Hatfield ordered a pre-sentence investigation and said Dorn would be notified to appear for sentence when the inquiry is finished. Dorn continues free on $5,000 bond.

U. S., Britain and Russia Again Talk of Nuclear Test Ban

American Threat to Resume Blasts Adds Urgency to Sessions

Geneva—(AP)—The United States, Russia and Britain resume negotiations here today for a ban on nuclear weapon tests, spurred by new urgency following a U. S. threat to resume test explosions at any time.

The talks have been going on intermittently since Oct. 31, 1958. Except for a Soviet test series in early November, 1958, none of the three powers has set off any test blasts since the talks opened.

The voluntary U. S. moratorium on nuclear tests ended Dec. 31. President Eisenhower announced two days earlier that his government felt free to resume nuclear weapon testing at any time but would not do so without giving advance notice.

Eisenhower said the United States would resume negotiations in a "continuing spirit of seeking to reach a safeguarded agreement."

The talks suspended for a 3-week Christmas recess on Dec. 18, after an east-west group of scientists reported almost complete failure to agree on new methods to police a ban.

Seaman Tries To Stab Judge

New York—(AP)—A merchant seaman today attempted to stab Federal Dist. Judge John M. Cashin at the U.S. courthouse on Foley square. The assailant fled and FBI agents began combing the city for him.

The seaman was identified as Cecil R. Hall, 56, of New York. He was the plaintiff in a personal injury suit in federal court.

In a brief struggle he was disarmed of a penknife by the judge's bailiff, Peter Varn Bell.

Refuses to Preside

Rayburn Will Not Head Convention

Washington—(AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said today he does "not choose" to be chairman of the Democratic national convention and would not accept the post.

Rayburn presided over the party's conventions in 1948, 1952 and 1956, and there was no doubt the job could again be his this year if he wanted it.

But in the past recent conventions Rayburn was not actively supporting any candidate for the presidential nomination.

For 1960, he recently announced his support of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the nomination.

Rayburn told a news conference he has "a great desire to see one convention from the floor."

He said he has no candidate for the chairmanship and has endorsed no one for the post at the convention starting in Los Angeles July 11.

"When you're tied to that chair up there," he said, "you see the convention from the front. I'd like to see it from both sides."

Operating from the floor of the convention as a delegate Rayburn said, would give him a better chance "to work for the candidate of my choice."

$7,000 Plan Passes With 51 Aye Votes

Outagamie county supervisors reversed their December position today and okayed a $7,000 airport and air traffic survey for the Fox Cities. The vote was 51 for, one present and three absent.

After some bitter personal attacks and endless wrangling last month, supervisors refused to approve a survey and seemingly okayed spending up to a million dollars at the present site.

Little Bitterness
Leigh Fisher and Associates, San Francisco, will make the survey on Outagamie county airport facilities in relation to the rest of the state, trade and traffic, expansion possibilities of the present airport (utilizing the Foth and Porath, Green Bay, report made for the state last year) and alternative airport sites.

There was little of the feuding of the December meeting, during which the supervisors refused to approve a survey. Supervisors discussed the survey with relative calm, and the only objector who carried through to the vote was Hor-

Cuba Rejects U. S. Protest on Land Seizure

Havana—(AP)—Fidel Castro's regime has rejected a U. S. protest against tactics used in seizing American property in Cuba and said it would speed up operations of its land reform program against both Cubans and foreigners.

Property owners were told to take their complaints to the Cuban courts.

U. S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal delivered a state department note yesterday complaining that lands and buildings of U. S. citizens in Cuba had been seized without court orders and frequently without written authorization.

The state department said in many cases no inventories were made, no receipts given for the seized property and no indication given that payment would be made.

Formal Reply Delayed
Responding swiftly, acting Foreign Minister Marcelo Fernandez issued a 150-word statement to the press last night which said the state department "does not take into consideration the basic situation, but rather relates a number of supposed deeds which are qualified as 'violations' of the agrarian reform law."

Fernandez said that while a formal reply would be made later Bonsal had been told the "firm position of the revolutionary government in accelerating the work of agrarian reform, applying measures of expropriation and indemnification."

Johnson Unwilling To Yield His Power

Stands Firm Against Demands of Democratic Liberals for Greater Voice in Party Policy Decisions

Washington —(A)— Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas stood firm today against demands of party liberals for a greater voice in policy decisions.

Evidently backed by a top-heavy majority of his party colleagues, Johnson was reported as unwilling to yield his power to appoint new Democratic policy committee members. A companion proposal to enlarge the group also drew opposition.

His lone concession to insurgents led by Sens. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) came in his call for an afternoon caucus for a discussion of the policy matter, along with a clean elections bill and a school construction measure.

Johnson himself was silent. The two bills were expected to be cleared earlier by the 9-member policy group for senate action in the next few days.

Johnson himself was silent. But a source close to the leader said that if the insurgents force any changes in the party machinery they will have to do it through a majority vote of the 45 Democrats. Any such efforts appeared marked for certain defeat.

Gore, who proposed that the policy committee membership be increased from 9 to 15, told the senate yesterday he thinks "Lyndon Johnson is the ablest Democrat who has served in this senate in my lifetime."

"This is a matter of principle, of party responsibility, not a matter of personality," he said.

Party Policy
The Tennessee senator said, however, that party policy ought to be developed which,

"This is no time to equivocate," said Bernard Rodin, western regional head of the group. He said the state department should initiate any necessary steps to halt anti-Jewish activities among the United States' allies.

"Must we be reminded that similar neo-fascist movements, unchecked, led to the rise of Hitler?" he asked.

Psychiatric Test Ordered for Woman

Black River Falls —(A)— A psychiatric examination was ordered Monday for Mrs. Rachel Kidrick, 41, charged with first degree murder in the shooting of her husband, Walter, 59, Dec. 28.

Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss ordered the examination. Mrs. Kidrick, of Brockway, has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. A bullet from a .22 caliber rifle pierced Kidrick's heart in the bedroom of his Jackson county home.

Name 7 Jurors For Soldier's Murder Trial

Youth Charged in Double Slaying of Sparta Relatives

Sparta —(A)— Seven jurors were named Monday at the opening of the first degree murder trial of Garold Rheinschmidt, 19-year-old AWOL soldier accused of shooting his aunt and uncle, with whom he had been staying.

Rheinschmidt was charged in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Theron Morris of rural Cash-ton, last October. He has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity for the trial before Circuit Judge Lincoln Neprud.

More Selections
The defense and prosecution indicated the five remaining jurors would be selected today.

Judge Neprud appointed Dr. Joseph Weber and Dr. Michael Kasak, Milwaukee psychiatrists, to aid the court during the trial and make their services available to both sides. The psychiatrists examined Rheinschmidt and said he was capable of standing trial.

Sheriff Dewey Reinstra took Rheinschmidt to a La Crosse clinic Monday for an encephalograph, an X-ray photograph of the brain. The results will be available to the defense and prosecution.

Double Slaying
Authorities said Rheinschmidt admitted the double slaying following a day on his uncle's farm during which everything went wrong. Dist. Atty. W. J. Gleiss said Rheinschmidt admitted shooting his uncle as Morris prepared to go to bed and his aunt when she returned home from a PTA meeting.

Rheinschmidt's mother, Mrs. Lois Burrell, 35, was in court for the trial.

Morris, 31, and his wife, Rita, 28, were the parents of three small children. Mrs. Nida Morris, Cash-ton, was appointed guardian for the children, Joy, 10; Michael, 4, and Cindy, 18 months. She is their paternal grandmother.

Highway Deaths Mount to 24

Milwaukee —(A)— The death of one of two men struck by their own truck when it was rammed by another vehicle has raised Wisconsin's highway toll for the year to 24, compared with 18 on this day a year ago.

Davis F. Pernot, 61, of Brooklyn, Wis., was killed late Monday night when his pickup truck was struck from behind by a semi-trailer truck on Highway 69 near Belleville in Dane county. Coroner Michael Malloy said Pernot and a companion, Raymond Duerst, 26, of Belleville, were out of their pickup, apparently because of motor trouble, when it was hit. Duerst was in fair condition at a Madison hospital. The pickup was parked just below a hill, and the semi driver said he could not swerve clear.

Old Bob LaFollette, was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Bronson C. LaFollette of Madison.

Bronson is the son of Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., of Washington, D.C., and the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette, Jr.

Claims College Grads Flunk Public Service

Professor Cites Intellectual Failure, Reluctance to Take Over Leadership

Boston —(A)— American college graduates are flunking the test of public service, and their intellectual failure is even more shocking, according to Dr. Perry Epler Gresham, president of Bethany college.

Although many have done well financially, he said, they have not provided public leadership in the crucial areas of politics, economics, and public philosophy.

Dr. Gresham, here for the 46th annual meeting of the Association of American colleges, told an alumni reunion last night:

"Continued inflation, fiscal debacles at municipal, state and national levels, recurrent strikes, and the diminishing dollar seem to indicate that the educated multitude is either ignorant of economics or powerless to persuade. The lack of public philosophy or national sense of mission must be charged to those of us who should know better."

"The intellectual failure is even more shocking. When the custodians of college deans read an average of only one or two books each year, we have reason for shame. A yellowing sheepskin is a poor cover for intellectual nakedness."

More than 500 college and university presidents and 200 deans are here for the AAC meeting. The 800 members of the association represent 96 per cent of all accredited liberal arts colleges, many of them part of public or private universities.

Wrong-Way Boxcar Halts Fire Truck
Paso Robles, Calif. —(A)— This city's new $25,000 fire truck arrived by rail Monday and had to be sent back to San Luis Obispo, the shipping point 25 miles south of here.

Nothing was wrong with the truck. The boxcar containing it was coupled the wrong way in the freight train — and the truck can be unloaded only at one end of the car.

The car was shunted back to San Luis Obispo to be turned around.

Nixon Invited to Sit In on Session When GOP Fashions Policy

Regard Move as Linked to Certain Candidacy of U. S. Vice President

Washington —(A)— Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been invited to sit in on a weekly closed session at which senate Republicans talk party policy on legislation.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today Nixon will be asked to lunch with the GOP policy committee regularly to air his views on measures before congress.

"The vice president has always been welcome at these meetings but as the situation stands, I think he ought to have a special invitation to attend all of them," Dirksen said in an interview.

The situation he has in mind, Dirksen made it clear, is that Nixon now appears almost certain to be the Republican presidential nominee.

If the vice president agrees to attend, he apparently will have two shots at shaping the kind of legislative policies and actions he might find helpful in the general election campaign.

In the past Nixon has always attended such conferences as today's White House meeting of the party legislative leaders with President Eisenhower. The vice president often speaks up there.

Policy Group
But he has rarely joined the policy group, where individual Republicans who don't always go along with White House proposals have their chance to make their objections known. Hot criticisms of White House actions and policies are not unknown at such sessions.

The GOP policy group of 15 members is appointed by Dirksen as leader. Usually membership has been rotated to include senators with imminent re-election campaigns. However, all 35 Republican senators are invited to attend and air their views on current issues.

Message Contains Few Overtones of National Nature
Trenton, N. J., —(A)— Gov. Robert B. Meyner proposed today to give New Jersey's local and county governments a helping hand with their problems.

Meyner presented suggestions on taxes, housing, law enforcement and cost of doing business in his sixth annual message to the legislature, opening its 184th session. The 7,200-word message contained 57 proposals.

The speech, prepared for delivery to a joint session of the newly elected legislature, had few national overtones, although Meyner is slated to go to the Democratic national convention as a favorite son candidate for the presidency.

The message also stayed away from money matters, to be dealt with in the budget message next month.

The Recommendations
Among Meyner's most important and novel recommendations were:

1. A new system of county assessment ratios instead of state law to collect $800 million a year in local property taxes.

2. A unique statewide grand jury to handle crimes that cross county borders.

3. A state bond issue of unspecified size to provide a loan fund for construction of private middle income housing projects.

4. A law allowing counties, municipalities and schools to band together and use the state purchase system to get low prices on supplies.

Transit, one of the state's biggest problems, got little mention. Meyner said a report from the transportation division about Feb. 1 will make specific proposals. He said he would have something to put before the legislature then.

Banker Dies

Farmer Pleaded for Mercy From Killer

District Attorney Plans to Charge Garvin Gillham With Murder

New London — Frank Heideman, 40, route 2, New London, farmer, pleaded for his life as he laid under the gun of Garvin Lee Gillham, 33, Chicago, Friday night, Garvin's divorced wife, Gloria, 23, related as she recovered from bullet wounds at Community hospital. She also charged Gillham threatened her grandparents.

Gillham will be charged with first degree murder in a warrant Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson said he planned to issue this afternoon. He explained in Waupaca issuance of the Mrs. Emma Heideman, who now lives at Weyauwega.

She said that when she was 18, her father came to New London and asked her and her brothers and sisters to visit with him at his Indiana home.

Heideman objected to her leaving, but agreed that she could go after her brothers and sisters spent the first two weeks with her father.

Had Argument

When her father returned two weeks later, Heideman again objected to her going, but she went anyway, after an argument. She said she married Gillham about two weeks after she met him while she was working in Hammond, Ind.

They spent their first four months in Maywood, Calif., where Gillham found employment, and later returned to New London. Both found work at the Hortonville Canning company.

Her first child, Cora Rae, 2, was born at New London while Gillham was back in California. When the baby was three weeks old, she joined her husband in California for six months before they returned to New London, she said. The second daughter, Della Ann, now 8 months, was born here.

Worked at Appleton
Gillham worked at Western Condensing's mixing and blending plant near the Butte des Morts golf course in Appleton as a general laborer from July 31, 1958, until May 15, 1959.

On June 5, 1956, Gillham was fined $100 in Appleton for drunken driving. On May 5, 1958, he was fined a total of $200 for drunken driving, driving without a license and failing to stop for a stop sign. He spent some time in jail before he paid the fine.

On March 22, 1959, he was arrested for drunkenness and forfeited bond. At each arrest he gave his address as route 1, Fremont.

Last May the Gillhams moved to Chicago where he started work with Republic Steel. She claimed her husband used to drink heavily and become abusive.

One morning in August, he went to work and she and her two children came to New London and she moved in with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Finkle.

Part-time Housekeeper
She worked at Badger Cleaners, Appleton, during the day and did part-time housekeeping for Heideman. She said she got a Reno, Nev., divorce in November and that she was planning to marry Heideman.

She said she moved her children to the Heideman home on Christmas eve, shortly before Heideman and her former husband had a heated argument which ended when Heideman drove Gillham off the farm at the point of his shotgun.

New London Schools
Mrs. Gillham is the former Gloria Hoskins, daughter of Albert Hoskins, Whiting, Ind., and Mrs. Rose Hoskins, Dale. She graduated from Most Precious Blood Catholic grade school and completed her first year at Washington High school before she quit school to find a job.

Her parents were separated when she was 3. She held several jobs before she went to work for Heideman, who was running a farm on County road 3 east of New London, when she was 16. She said Heideman drove Gillham off the farm at the point of his shotgun.

Call Grandparents
Mrs. Gillham also stated that her former husband called her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Finkle, 906 W. Beacon avenue, and told them he had shot and killed Heideman and that he had wounded her.

She said Gillham told them that he was going to shoot them, too.

Chief Macklin said this call to the Finkles may have caused delay in sending armed men to the Heideman home, as it was believed Gillham may have been on his way to the Finkle home.

Beating Charges Dropped After Youth Agrees

Charges of beating a 17-year-old youth in the alley behind their restaurant against Pat Earle, 33, of 1538 N. Appleton street, and Frank Pierre, 30, of 1015 W. Summer street, have been dropped in municipal court.

The youth, Walter Skinner, 1351 W. Prospect avenue, agreed to drop the charges after the two men agreed to drop a charge against Skinner of leaving the restaurant

Sept. 26 without paying a 55-cent check.

Earle and Pierre claimed Skinner walked out of the restaurant without paying. Skinner said he paid a waitress. Skinner said Earle followed him from the restaurant and beat him. Earle said he hit Skinner in self-defense as about 15 youths surrounded the two men in the alley.

Skinner is in custody as a result of violating his juvenile court probation.

Safety Tips

Skids, Visibility Cause Many Crashes

Police Chief Walter J. Hendricks, whose department keeps records of all traffic accidents occurring within the city limits, observes that the type and causes of accidents tend to follow a definite pattern based on seasonal weather conditions.

Knowledge of this pattern can be of great value to capable drivers in preventing accidents, he points out. "For example, the winter-type accident is most likely to be a collision resulting from reduced visibility due to bad weather, or a crackup resulting from lack of control on snow or ice," the chief explained. "And frequently it's a combination of both these factors."

He further noted that accidents of this type are especially common during early winter—when many motorists are caught unprepared both as to their driving habits and proper winter equipment.

Hendricks said most cars come equipped with normal vision-clearing apparatus, so it boils down to having this equipment checked and put in top operating condition.

Defrosters should work with full power and efficiency. This may necessitate nothing more than installing new thermostats.

Wiper Efficiency

Windshield wiper efficiency should not be taken for granted just because the arm moves back and forth across a segment of the windshield. If the blades are old and sunbaked, the rubber may be dead and should be replaced. The arm pressure should be checked, and it should show at least one ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length. New cars have that, but as cars grow older the pressure peters out and on many cars there isn't enough pressure left in the old arms to do anything more than make blades streak the windshield, or ride over snow that sticks to the glass. This is a dangerous situation.

Beyond these basic precautions, adequate wintertime visibility becomes a matter of the driver taking time to scrape all windows free of accumulated ice or snow before starting out. This can become a chore for drivers who park their cars out-of-doors, day and night, the chief conceded, but it's a chore which no driver can afford to shirk. It's all the more important to the drivers who park their cars outside. Appleton police have arrested drivers who caused accidents because of frost on car windows.

With respect to scientific advances in skid-prevention, Hendricks pointed out that a great deal of research has also been done by the committee on winter driving hazards of the National Safety Council in January at Pine Lake near Clintonville. All kinds of skid-reducing equipment have been tested and driving techniques have been practiced and verified or discarded. Knowledge gained from these tests has become part of the lore of safe winter driving as practiced by both professional drivers and well-informed amateurs.

Chains Best

"Tests show the best equipment for providing stop-and-go traction in deep snow or on glare ice is a set of reinforced tire chains. But even chains can't help if they aren't in the trunk, handy to use when a driver can't move without them," declared Hendricks.

The chief added that some of the special winter treads are helpful in improving traction, particularly when snow is not too deep and the grades are not too steep. He said that some of the snow tires are better than others but that none can compare with bar-reinforced tire chains for traction or for stopping.

However, with Appleton's winter record in mind, Hendricks pointed out that none of the skid-study experts length, new cars have that, but as cars grow older the pressure peters out and on many cars there isn't enough pressure left in the old arms to do anything more than make blades streak the windshield, or ride over snow that sticks to the glass. This is a dangerous situation.

Beyond these basic precautions, adequate wintertime visibility becomes a matter of the driver taking time to scrape all windows free of accumulated ice or snow before starting out. This can become a chore for drivers who park their cars out-of-doors, day

Airport Traffic Up At Green Bay Field

12.5 Per Cent Increase in Passenger Rate At Straubel Field, 1959 Figures Show

Reflecting the importance of Austin Straubel field on its Middle West chain of routes, passenger traffic handled at the Brown county airport by North Central airlines in 1959 showed an amazing 12.5 per cent increase over the previous year.

Long considered as one of the key stations on its far-flung feeder line routes in a tier of states from Michigan on the east to the Dakotas on the west, Green Bay accounted for 30,063 passengers of the estimated 970,000 carried by the airline last year.

In addition to the 6,654 more passengers enplaning first cities on the North Central system to receive the new 44-passenger Convair 340 service when it was started in April, 1959. More Convair flights are expected to serve here this year when five more Convairs are added to the previous five.

North Central will enter its 13th year of service in February. Service here started in October, 1947, and traffic gains have been recorded each year since that time. The entire system now serves 69 cities in nine states and airline officials are hopeful for favorable Civil Aeronautics board action this year on applications for service to Ontario and Saskatchewan in Canada.

The traffic was carried on a total of 9,188 outbound flights and 9,182 inbound for a total of 18,368 plane handling operations during the year. This total was 149 more than in 1958. Although nationwide figures will not be available until around mid-1960, the traffic figures indicate that the airport here will continue to hold its high place as one of the top feeder airline stations in the United States.

Air mail poundage here totaled 160,515 in 1959 compared with 132,956 in 1958, a gain of 27,559 pounds last year. The aggregate last year was divided between 84,908 pounds mailed from here and 75,607 received compared with 71,819 and 61,037 pounds, respectively, in 1958.

Air express reached above the one-third million pounds for the first time last year, the traffic figures show.

Air Express

Total air express handled here was 375,067 pounds, an increase of 127,734 pounds over 1958. Last year's tonnage was divided between 195,102 sent from here and 179,965 pounds received. This compares with 172,248 and 175,085, respectively, in 1958.

The 7-month figures for air freight show 56,125 pounds

PSC Approves Removal of Marion Agency

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Because its business and revenues have declined so sharply that it cannot engage an agent to handle its work there, the Railway Express agency has been authorized by the public service commission to suspend agency service at Marion in Waupaca county.

Service will be available from Clintonville and Tiger-ton, the commission order explained, and the village also has scheduled truck and bus transportation available to it.

Agency service at the Marion location was reduced in another order a year ago.

Some local merchants and businessmen opposed the proposal at a Shawano hearing held last spring.

New Books

Red Tape, Greed Blasted In Volume on Stupidity

Roget's "Thesaurus" devotes six columns to synonyms for the word "stupidity" and only one column to the word "wisdom."

Now Paul Tabori has devoted a 263-page book to stupidity. It is one of 22 new non-fiction books on reserve at the Appleton public library.

"The Natural Science of Stupidity" is written on the theme that man's own stupidity is his greatest threat. Among other forms, Tabori stresses the stupidity of greed, doubt, red tape, the law, medical and religious quackery and mass hysteria. Love also rates a chapter.

Homes on Rails

Another new non-fiction book, "Mansion on Rails," by Lucius Beebe, is a notable piece of research and writing on private railroad cards. Accompanied by pictures, the text concerns some of the most unbelievably lavish private cars owned by railroads and individuals.

One of the most talked about characters of the century is the subject of a non-fiction work by Geoffrey Boga, a freelance writer with two best sellers to his credit. "The Life and Death of Sir Harry Oakes," is the story of a Maine Yankee who found a gold mine, bought a British knighthood, and was the victim of a still unsolved murder on his estate in the Bahama Islands.

Other new non-fiction works include, "A Natural History of

Sen. Humphrey in Wisconsin

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has acknowledged many times that Wisconsin will be vital to his campaign to win the Democratic nomination for president. Now, however, he has taken the trouble to point out that even though he should lose the primary election in Wisconsin he would not necessarily be out of the contest. He recalls that Adlai Stevenson lost the 1958 Minnesota primary and went on to win the nomination. He was quick to add, however, that his mention of this was no indication that he intended to lose the election in Wisconsin or anywhere else.

However, his statement brings up the question of the value of primaries in presidential party nomination contests. Presumably, of course, the candidate is seeking the votes of delegates at the national convention but this is not the sole purpose of the primary. Candidates like primaries where they can make a good showing and get favorable publicity and in many instances that appears to be more important than the garnering of delegates.

Comparatively few of the states have presidential primaries. By far the greater number of delegates are appointed at party conventions. However, conventions often are guided by the news from states where primaries have been held. If Humphrey should win the Wisconsin delegation in a contest with Sen. Kennedy, his standing in the party would climb far above the point indicated by the fact that he had the support of the Wisconsin delegation. He would be recognized as a candidate of power in the Middle West and little heed would be given to the actual number of delegates he had won in Wisconsin. On the other hand, if he should lose he would still be in the race and it is possible that he could win the nomination under very favorable circumstances without the Wisconsin delegation just as Mr. Stevenson won without the Minnesota delegation.

Thus it appears that state primaries are extremely important to the success or failure of certain candidates. They further offer state politicians a chance to get tied in with candidates and if those candidates win it may mean important patronage for the state in the four years ahead. On the other hand, in the point of view of the Wisconsin voter, the presidential primary has very little to offer. In the first place candidates need not enter a state primary and most of them will not enter the Wisconsin primary because they recognize that in the Democratic party Sens. Kennedy and Humphrey have the field pretty much to themselves. Thus it may very well happen that neither of the candidates in the Democratic primary in Wisconsin will be the party nominee.

While Wisconsin's Sen. Proxmire has made much of his demand that the voters of Wisconsin have a choice, of what use is a choice if the leading candidate or the one who turns out finally to be the successful candidate is not on the state ticket. If, as many people expect, Mr. Stevenson should be the nominee of the Democratic convention, what is the purpose of having Wisconsin voters decide between Humphrey and Kennedy? The only choice worth while is one which involves all of the candidates. What is needed to make the primary law a success is the requirement that all candidates for party nominations present themselves in all state primaries. It would be a further improvement if all states were required to have primaries.

Liquor Is Cheap in Oklahoma

Last April the voters of Oklahoma removed the state ban on liquor sales and opened the way for a legal liquor business which got under way in September. Until that time Oklahoma people had been well served by an army of prosperous bootleggers. Very little attention was given to the regulation of the liquor trade, bootlegging was carried on openly and quite efficiently without interference from government.

At the moment, however, the liquor business in Oklahoma, although closely regulated by the government, is in a chaotic condition. It seems strange that a business which could run smoothly with no legal sanction or regulation could suddenly find itself in a raging price war in its new legal position. Liquor, under well known brand names, is being sold in Oklahoma today from $1 to $1.25 under the standard retail price. This is a big bargain for the liquor consumers but is playing havoc with the dealers.

Oddly enough the unsettled conditions in Oklahoma's liquor trade are said to be due to the state's regulations rather than in spite of them. Liquor dealers are prevented by law from advertising or using any of the standard promotional devices to invite business. They also are forbidden from delivering orders to the consumers' homes. A liquor store may have one sign with letters no more than four inches high and can use four words or less to inform the public that liquor is on sale inside. Credit sales and signs mentioning cut prices are prohibited. There are no liquor store chains and the retailer must keep a written record of every bottle sold. Advertising by local dealers in newspapers is prohibited by law although national liquor advertising is allowed if paid for by the distillers or the wholesalers.

The liquor dealers point out that this ban on the usual sales methods has left the dealers only one device for inviting trade. That is the low price.

Since the law does not permit wholesalers to obtain franchise agreements for the handling of special brands of liquor exclusively all wholesalers find it necessary to stock all brands in order that they may compete. This has added to the scramble since fair trade price fixing is prevented by law in Oklahoma.

Some of the dealers, including some of the old time bootleggers who have gone into legitimate trade, are making out but most dealers are screaming that the price war is forcing them to the wall. The liquor trade is booming, however, since the state has received almost $6,000,000 in liquor taxes during the four months since the trade began. It is more than some people had predicted would be received in an entire year.

The state has approximately 750 licensed liquor dealers and they not only are battling among themselves under the state's strict regulations but also have important competition from bootleggers. One dealer who has been trying to maintain a fairly reasonable price level says that one of his customers can get a case of liquor from his bootlegger at almost the retail dealer's price and the bootlegger delivers it to his house. That service is illegal for a licensed dealer.

The lesson appears to be that business regulations, unless they are wisely drawn, may be worse than no regulations whatever.

Foolishness in Bank Robberies

It is our opinion that two very foolish men met in the State Bank at Bancroft Tuesday afternoon of last week.

One of the foolish men of course was the bandit. He had entered the bank with a loaded gun and thus had put himself in good position to serve a long term in prison. Since the gun was loaded and the bandit rather nervous there was a possibility that he might have shot someone fatally and wound up spending the rest of his life behind the bars. Furthermore, if he is familiar with the history of bank robberies in Wisconsin in recent years, he should know that most such adventurers have been captured and the funds recovered.

The other foolish man, in our opinion, who certainly risked his life for no purpose was Jesse L. Judd, president of the bank, who upon hearing the shot fired by the bandit rushed out of his office brandishing an unloaded rifle. When the bandit saw Judd with the rifle he took to his heels. Judd had made his entrance in such a hurry that he had not taken time to load the gun. Thus the bandit escaped and no one was hurt.

For anyone with an unloaded gun to rush a nervous bandit who is carrying a loaded weapon strikes us as the height of folly. It was the bank president's third experience with a holdup and he had kept the rifle in his office since the last holdup in August, 1958. Judd also had been present as a bank cashier when the bank was held up in 1937. Thus the banker probably had more experience in holdups than the bandit but he certainly failed to take full advantage of his superior knowledge and experience. He appears to have acted impulsively and without planning and the best that can be said for the business is that all's well that ends well.

Sen. Wiley Says Nixon Must Find How to Laugh

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, who considers himself a connoisseur of humor, has given vice President Nixon some good advice and, perhaps unwittingly, has illuminated a facet of Mr. Nixon's character.

The senator says Mr. Nixon will improve his chances of reaching the White House if he learns to "laugh from the belly." Mr. Nixon's critics say that this is something the vice president cannot do, for they type him as the mechanical man who laughs without really feeling a genuine emotion.

We do not know Sen. Wiley's preference for the presidential nomination, nor are we familiar with his literary sources, but we wonder whether he has been looking back 100 years or so to the English preacher, Frederick William Robertson, who said: "That man is a bad man who has not within him the power of a hearty laugh."

Rickover Income For Talks Goes To Aid Children

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Vice Adm. H. G. Rickover, developer of the nuclear submarine, whose right to copyright his speeches to prevent unauthorized publication recently was upheld in federal court, has added a footnote to the controversy that led to the court action.

In a move to counter an impression that he has found criticizing American education extremely profitable personally, Adm. Rickover has disclosed that over the last 10 years he has donated his income from speeches, articles, cash awards and royalties to children's charities. This is about $20,000.

Thus his exhortation of educational deficiencies has borne fruit in a singularly appropriate manner.

State, Local Taxes Increase Faster Than Personal Income

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — One of the characteristics of contemporary politics is the seemingly irresistible pressure upon all levels of government for an expansion of government expenditure at a pace considerably more rapid than the growth of the economy in general.

That phenomenon has been evident to the naked eye of the critical observer for a long time but it has been difficult to popularize. One of the auxiliary advantages of the governor's continuing tax survey commission, perhaps, is that in its preliminary reports it has managed to put such pertinent matters into perspective, and by virtue of its prestige, to get some public thinking and discussion about them.

In one of its first documents, intended to set up the broad theme and goal of its work, the commission remarked that during the last ten years state taxes for the executive budget have increased 102 per cent and that combined state and local taxes have increased 114 per cent.

During that same period, however, total personal income in this state increased only 65 per cent. In the race for the additional dollars, government has a head start and shows no signs of relaxing.

CONSERVATIVE

These comparisons, it is extremely important to note, are on the conservative side. They do not take into account the growth in federal spending and the growth in the federal tax load, for example, including the fact that the national government has increasingly taken over the responsibility of financing services that once were financed by the states or the localities, and has pumped huge sums into the budgets of some services that remain nominally under the control of the states and the localities.

They do not take into account the fact that local governments have gone increasingly into debt in the last decade. Those debt accumulations are not yet reflected in current taxes, but they will inevitably play a part in the tax burdens of the future.

Nor do the comparisons take into account the fact that for all of its pious protestations, the state itself has gradually undertaken a substantial debt liability through the contrivance of building corporations that appear to be permissible to the courts but that violate the spirit of the state constitutional debt prohibition, nevertheless. Those debts will be reflected in higher state taxes in the future also, and have been incurred in part because of the desire of the politicians of the last decade to hide their actions from the taxpayers of that period.

WHAT NOW?

No realist seriously believes that the tendency for more state and local spending can be reversed. Only the optimist, in fact, believes that it even can be halted.

More public service is clearly one of the ingredients of the present situation.

Stone is now being delivered on the corner lot opposite H. A. Foster's drug store, to be used as a foundation of the new bank building which is to be erected there during the ensuing summer. (This was the Commercial bank on the present Zuelke building corner).

We also learn that George Kreiss will build two stores east of the Greulich Drug store on the avenue, with about the same depth as the other. They will rent very readily.

Steel Workers President McDonald is so pleased with Dick Nixon, the union may not endorse any Democratic candidate—until after the convention.

Democrats contend the vice-presidency is nothing but a ceremonial office. All the occupant does is sit around in a big office and settle things.

Interest rates are so high that you can almost make enough on your money in the building and loan to pay the taxes on what you make by not spending it.

Democratic eggheads love the word "image." If you're not sure what it means, then you have a perfect "image" of why they use it.

One man's revenge: They tore down his house to build a highway, tore up the highway to build a jet airport, then abandoned the airport because there weren't enough people left within a 100 miles to use it.

The government has two methods of attacking insoluble problems. The White House names a fact-finding committee. Congress names a fault-finding committee.

But Did You Ever Try To Drive on Iowa Dirt Road in a Rainstorm?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

As a native son of Iowa, some readers might expect me to come to the defense of my home state after the sordid remarks written by Robert W. Mellberg, which appeared in your paper Jan. 6, 1960. In the three happy years we have lived in Appleton, I have met enough gracious and neighborly Wisconsinites to know that it is not Iowa which needs help, but Mr. Mellberg. If he is sincere in his vehement disapproval of that warm and earthy state of productive fields and friendly people, I should like to help him see the beauty which spreads itself deep beyond his immediate, limited view.

Perhaps, Bob, you and I can visit this fertile land which you have chosen to study in and view some things you have not had time to see because of the work load of your studies. I know you have been busy as a student at Ames, for Iowa colleges have been long respected for their academic standards. Strolling your impressive campus, you can be proud to say that you have the ability and intelligence to be a student in this citadel of agricultural and scientific learning. Iowans, never having been counted by the millions, have been loyal supporters in building this fine school and the State University of Iowa at Iowa City. Paying for their universities with higher taxes than individuals in more populous states, they proudly dig deeper to build such outstanding private colleges as Cornell, Luther, Grinnell, Loras and many others. . . .

If you have time, Bob, let's travel next to Cedar Rapids and Waterloo. These towns and companies like Collins Radio and John Deere have prospered together because they found they can work together. New homes and cars, and happy faces are poor disguises for impoverished people. These are prosperous people, like their neighbors in Davenport, Des Moines, and Sioux City, because they benefit materially from the machinery and equipment manufacturing, insurance and livestock, and "big" businesses in Iowa. Prosperous, because within fifteen minutes from the center of their towns, they can be hunting pheasants, fishing in a gentle stream, or driving through fresh forests of green corn with golden tasseled crowns.

While on this hurried journey, Bob, let's stop and meet the man who calls this land his home, the earth his friend. Common enough to bathe in the dust of ripened grain fields; proud to be a host to our country's most important guest; cautious enough to be a heavy hand on the shoulder of politicians who might rush the seasons; daring enough to cast his lot with the sun and rain is the Iowa farmer. He is a human being who finds entertainment watching his children play with the newborn calves, catch chubs from the neighboring stream; he is an aesthete who sees beauty in the growing of a kernel of corn and looks forward with his family to a big Sunday dinner supplied by the fruits of his labor; he is a businessman who analyzes the hog market with the shrewdness of a stockbroker reading the ticker tape — 24D with the eye of a chemist; he is a friend who represents a way of life, schooled in the practical application of being a good neighbor. . . .

Let us pause on our trip to have lunch at Lloyd's in Marshalltown, or the Amana Colonies near Iowa City. These are just a few of the many fine restaurants stretched across Iowa, and I might add that they are as clean as a water lily after a spring rain. Then we can stop in Iowa City and perhaps meet Paul Engle, the poet, and Doctor Van Allen, of space-probing fame. They have found something in Iowa more important than 3.2 beer. Perhaps Richard Bissell, who associated in the writing of "Pajama Game" and "Say Darling" could show us some of the landmarks which record the dramatic history of his home, Dubuque. Meredith Wilson, in Mason City, might be able to introduce in person some of the warm and friendly characters he copied in his production of "Music Man." If Herbert Hoover were visiting his birthplace and home near West Liberty, I am sure he could help you to know Iowa as he knew it as a boy, a land whose innate character defies misconduct. . . .

Cats Killing More Birds Than Poison

Editor, Post-Crescent:

What does one do about wild cats, and cats which have a home but are outside almost all the time? I've seen these cats catch and eat birds, and a nest of rabbits by my house. Seen them chasing rabbits, and sharpening their claws on the trees in my back yard. No fogging machine or insecticides will kill as many birds as a bunch of cats like I've got around here. If your garbage cover isn't on tight they're into that. Why can't they be licensed the same as a dog?

One more thing is these students who are bellyaching because they have to sign a loyalty oath for a loan. Why should they refuse? Are they any better than civil service workers, ask your postman, and how about the boys who go into service? I signed when I worked in a mill, I didn't gripe, and I didn't receive anything either. Let them get their loans somewhere where they don't have to sign them.

Haven't We Been Belittled Enough by Washington?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Having been through Iowa several times in my young life and in and out of Wisconsin probably just as many times, I have found the recent letters by so-called staunch Wisconsin supporters rather amusing. Mr. Grummer in his letter criticized Mr. Mellberg for pointing out the state's deficiencies and then went on to point out even more of them himself. Why not practice what you preach!

As for myself, I am a native of the state of Washington, have seen over three-fourths of these United States and many of them more than once, lived in Indiana as a student for four years and now am living in Appleton as a student. The comparison between Iowa and Wisconsin is a good one but I would hardly hesitate to pick Wisconsin as the better of the two. Neither of the two, however, can ever compare with Washington! There is no need to even try and list points of comparison. Just take it from one who has lived there.

I am not degrading Wisconsin because I think it is great in its own respect. It has proved itself a lot better than many of the people living in it. As long as people are content to sit tight in their own little rut and unable to compare different states objectively, I'll be happy. It seems the most secure way of preventing a mass migration for the state of Washington!

WTMJ-TV has come up with a new local programming idea.
Starting next Saturday afternoon, immediately after the NBC-TV pro basketball game, Reporter Ted Moore will emcee a "Meet the Team" show.
Object of the program is to introduce and interview Milwaukee High school basketball teams, demonstrate the team's techniques, sample the school's cheers and interview other students.
One of the sideline features will be the introduction weekly of such school personalities as the school paper's editor, the prom king and queen, student government leaders and athletic team managers.

Hedda's Show Guided Tour Of Hollywood

Weekend Programs Prove Quite Dull, Reviewer's Opinion

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

New York—NBC turned its Sunday Showcase over to a guided tour of Hollywood, the city where the dream is real—or at least the folks want us to think so.

The hour was a curious ragout compounded in almost equal part of the usual shots of the stars' homes, the back lots of the studios and the big names. Chef of the stew was Hedda Hopper, who seemed to be very sentimental about it all.

One of the more fascinating aspects of the 60 minutes was the plug-dropping. There must have been a score of stars, past and present, on the show, and most of those who are currently employed devoted major portions of their brief moments telling the folks just where they currently may be seen.

cape, through romance and love. . . Ricardo Cortez, balding and not at all romantic looking, told how Garbo endeared herself to him while making her first American picture when she almost drowned in a studio tank, but never complained.

Ramon Novarro and Francis X. Bushman talked about techniques of chariot racing with a young actor bent on plugging a new remake of an old movie.
Just before the hour ended, I flipped over to see how Ed Sullivan was holding up. Things looked normal: a girl singer, and then a troupe of Norwegian folk dancers went through their paces. Then Wayne and Shuster came out and said they hoped Ed would get well fast. I hope he didn't get so upset about Hedda that it made him ill.

Later, Greer Garson was in a piece of fluff on CBS' G. E. Theater. It was about an actress taking revenge on an old enemy. It was a comedy but full of such lulling dialogue as "give me libra or give me death."

There also was an afternoon of football on NBC Saturday and 90 minutes of polo on CBS Sunday afternoon. And everyone seemed to be talking politics on the news interview shows. It was a fine weekend for getting caught up on the year-end bookkeeping and finishing the Christmas thank-you notes.

Board Alters Vote, Okays Port Survey

tonville's police chief, Ira Dominowski.

But his vote of present didn't make any difference, since it was counted on the prevailing side. Dominowski said the people in Hortonville told him they didn't want anything particularly to do with the airport, especially spending money on it.

Airport Committee Chairman Mark Catlin, whose position that the airport committee ought to choose the survey firm took a beating during the December meeting, told the board that today's resolution was a far cry from the previous one.

Since the board in December did not want its airport committee to choose the firm, Catlin said he had inquired of the three bidding firms if they would do the survey for $7,000, the amount the board budgeted in November. Fischer was the only firm to give a concrete commitment, he explained, and the committee did not have time to meet on the bid. Catlin therefore put in the resolution over his signature.

"The whole committee should sign it and that committee should agree before something like this comes up for a vote," said Little Chute Supv. Paul Koska.

"Besides," he added,

"there aren't any federal funds for airports... what about the Bong field... all the government is interested in is rockets and missiles..."

"The federal funds... some $5 million, are allocated for this state and Outagamie county has applied for aid for a $230,000 project... and understand informally that we are number one on the state's priority list," Catlin answered.

And, Catlin added, the survey will consider funds needed and aid available.

Peter Farrell, town of Kaukauna, wanted to know if the county would be willing to go along with the survey results if it was recommended to either expand the present airport or abandon it.

Take a Vote

"The only way we'll ever know that is when the board votes on a question," wryly commented Chairman Alvin Fulcer.

Anton Jansen, old-time board member and member of the airport committee which bought the present airport property, offered the board a "perfect spot for a new airport... west of County Trunk N, north of Highway 41, south of JJ and east of E... It could be 13 to 2 miles wide and three miles long... and it would knock out this foolish idea of moving 41 north of the villages and Kaukauna..."

The vote ends about a year's work by the Citizens Aviation Advisory committee, an informal group organized and sparked by Gordon Bubolz, which brought experts (including Fischer) to Appleton for public meetings and organized public and private support for a survey. Eventually, chambers of commerce and businesses wrote the county board members and a telephone campaign last week urged survey approval.

Although several members of the board talked today as though they would oppose any survey, the vote was just about unanimous. George Miller, Shiocton supervisor, who has previously opposed the survey, left the board room before the vote. Appleton Supv. Douglas Evans, steadfast opponent of the survey and member of the airport committee, was excused from today's session for illness. Fulcer said.

About $3,500 pledged by the citizen's group and contributed by business and industry is available to help defray the survey costs, but Catlin said he thought the county should foot the bill so "we won't be influenced by it (the contribution)." A 5-man committee to work with the survey results and to report to the board is to be named at this afternoon's session. Appointments will be by the board's committee on committees.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and grip the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAM gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAM moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAM's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAM acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAM relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAM won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAM today! Introductory size 43¢.

City, State, Industry Hail Kaukauna Firm Anniversary

Gov. Nelson Speaks at Dedication Of Badger-Northland's Addition

Kaukauna — The state, city and industry Monday saluted Badger-Northland's tenth anniversary in Kaukauna and helped dedicate the latest addition to its plant.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson said Badger-Northland's 30,000 square foot addition was one of 178 new plants or additions completed last year in the state for more than $84 million in new capital — a record for the state.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon said the addition was more than a building, it was a symbol of confidence in Kaukauna and the state. He said the addition would give the city a stronger, firmer industrial base.

Good Citizens

Elmer H. Jennings, chairman of the board at Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, hailed Badger-Northland as a good industrial citizen of the community that set the pace in many worthwhile activities.

He said the expansion of a company such as Badger-Northland was the finest kind of expansion the city and the state could have because it recognized its responsibilities and was led by intelligent, sound management.

Jennings explained how industry and the city cooperated to help the farm implement manufacturing concern obtain land for the expansion to keep it in the community.

The land on which the addition was built was being held by the railroad for industrial development by potential users of rail transportation and it was reluctant to release it for Badger-Northland's use since the 2½ acres involved provided access to a larger tract on the river.

When the problem was brought to the attention of the city by Thilmany, the government provided a new access road at its own cost to make the land available.

270 Employees

Jennings said the 270 employees of the firm were obvious reasons for Kaukauna's interest in the company. Further, he said, the prosperity of the firm was reflected in the prosperity of the community since it provided well paying jobs for men with special skills and kept the tone of the labor market high to the benefit of not only the city but other industries as well.

He compared Badger-Northland's growth with that of hoped would be remedied soon to aid municipal financing, the lack of certain raw materials and the state's location which hampered direct transportation.

In a radio interview at Manitowoc, Gov. Nelson said he is considering a recommendation for a homestead tax exemption. He said the present property taxes place a burden way out of proportion on businesses, retired persons and homes in general.

Threatens to Close Schools In Georgia

But Governor Also Discloses Plans for Building Program

Atlanta — Gov. Ernest Vandiver Monday proposed a $68 million public school building program and a pay raise for teachers, but told the Georgia legislature he is still determined to close schools if necessary to prevent integration.

In his combined state of the state and budget message to the opening session of the general assembly, the governor proposed to increase state spending about $40 million a year without increasing taxes.

$100 Million

A substantial part of the increase would be devoted to financing a $100 million authority type construction program of schools, hospitals and prisons.

Most of the hour-long address, carried over a state radio and television network, was devoted to a discussion of accomplishments during Vandiver's first year in office and to his legislative and budgetary proposals.

The governor did not ask for any new segregation legislation — the first time in years that no such administration measures will be offered.

But Vandiver declared sternly, "We will resist... we will exhaust every legal means and remedy available to us."

He took indirect notice of the Atlanta school situation, where an integration order was delayed only to allow the legislature to consider the matter.

Open Conflict

"During recent weeks," he said, "events have moved us closer and closer to the threat of open conflict between federal authority and state authority over operation of Georgia's public schools."

The governor declared such conflict could be avoided by both races "working in harmony voluntarily under our traditional pattern of segregation for concrete advancement of those programs which I have outlined to you today."

Bulky Knit Cardigans and pullovers for skating and skiing lead the field in popularity this season. Above are some of the designs, styles and patterns which can be knit with mere practice and much patience.

Ancient Weaving Revived; Becomes Popular Hobby

BY KATHY REARDON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The process of making cloth out of yarn is older than written history, and according to our forefathers, men got the idea of knitting as they knotted grasses into nets, mats or baskets.

Surprisingly enough, stockings were the first article to be knitted as we knit today. The ancient art, believed to be first undertaken by the people of Scotland, has blossomed into an up and coming hobby, profitable as well as entertaining.

Many Fox Cities residents have become engrossed in the art of weaving the ivory, bone, plastic or steel rods to produce an intriguing design, and what's more, a wearable piece of clothing.

Bulky Sweaters

Bulky knit sweaters for skating and skiing are leading in popularity now among the knitters. Both pullovers and cardigans are featured in a variety of colors, patterns and texture. The average cost of the yarn for such a sweater is about $12; however, this figure fluctuates according to the elaborateness and size of the sweater.

Young people of the community also are becoming engrossed in the art of knitting and the knitting classes are well attended by young and old alike.

A Neenah yarn shop has a Saturday afternoon class for students from grade school through high school. The beginners begin knitting ear warmers and scarves and, after a few sessions, start on sweaters and more advanced articles.

The Appleton Vocational school has six classes with a total enrollment of 90 students. Attendance is consistent and women of all ages take advantage of the opportunity to learn knitting.

To people familiar with the process of looping one thread over another, the procedure is simple and can be done while talking, watching television and reading.

Produce Fabric

According to the definition, knitting is the act of producing fabrics on or with needles by a manual manipulation. New loops are drawn through previous loops in one direction, resulting in a plain fabric. Now, when the knitter gets fancy and draws the loops through in the other direction, the result is purling. When plain and purl rows are alternated, a ribbed effect is achieved. These are the two basic stitches in knitting. Designs can be produced by manipulating the steps to achieve a pattern. Contrasting colors of yarn also are added to achieve a design.

Besides ribbing, there are eyeletting and tucking, plus a multitude of others. The fabric can be widened by casting on additional loops, known as increasing, or narrowed by casting off stitches, known as decreasing.

One loop hangs on to another all the way down the fabric. That is why, when you happen to catch one thread, you can unravel the completely finished work.

A knitted fabric stretches more than a woven fabric and it snaps back to its original size after it is stretched. Necks of sweaters stretch when pulled over the head, then return to their original shape.

Different Needles

A thick needle is used with thick yarn and a looser weave is the result. Often the looser stitch is desirable for sweaters and scarves. A thin needle and thin yarn makes a tighter and finer stitch. It takes less time to knit with big needles and thick yarn.

Knitting is taught to girls in some European schools. More and more United States schools are offering knitting in evening and adult classes. Some schools have also included it in their home economics program.

Hand knitting reached its peak in the United States in 1935, partly because stores selling yarn offered free lessons.

A ski sweater is a winter long project, consuming many nights before the fire with

Opening lead — D-J
West opened the jack of diamonds, East signalled enthusiastically with the eight, and South won with the king.

Declarer promptly banged down the king of hearts. West began a signal with the five of hearts, and dummy played low.

East went into a long trance and finally played low.

"You'll be sorry," South observed amiably as he switched to a spade. East took the ace of spades and returned a low diamond, but the party was over. South took the ace of diamonds and ran five clubs and a spade, making game and rubber.

East Couldn't Tell
East gave declarer the game, but is he the true criminal? Give South K-2 of hearts and only four club tricks. The play of the first two tricks would be the same, and then East would be a hero for refusing the first heart trick.

East was worried about giving South four heart tricks; he couldn't tell that one heart trick was enough. Strange as it may seem, West was the criminal. At the second trick West should begin his signal extravagantly by playing the 10 of hearts.

Better Signal
This signal indicates either two or four hearts. East can tell which, since South would not lead the king of hearts if he had two small hearts under the king. (South would lead one of the small hearts first to guard against a singleton ace in the West hand.)

In short, East would know that South had led a singleton king of hearts. He could afford to take the ace of hearts and return a diamond. East would lead one of the small hearts first to guard against a singleton ace in the West hand.)

Should West worry about 10 of hearts for fear that South will later be able to finesse dummy's eight of hearts? It's very unlikely that this desperate finesse will be South's best chance for the contract. The big danger is that a signal with the five of hearts will be unreadable.

For 1960 the news is sleeves.

Fashion puts all her tricks up her sleeve this spring, achieving width at the top in many and devious ways, all designed to give women a graceful and feminine look. There are cape sleeves, pleated sleeves, kimono sleeves, dolman sleeves, cylindrical sleeves, puffed and puffed sleeves, raglan sleeves, draped-armhole sleeves and no sleeves.

Dresses and coats exhibit every sleeve trick in the fashion dictionary, while suits are more restrained, tending toward an easy, classic look with many longer jackets.

The accent for spring is on wearable, almost timeless clothes, versatile enough to do duty at home or abroad.

easy to pack and care for, comfortable and flattering to wear. There are no shocking new fads, no "gag" fashions, no attempts to distort the natural lines of the feminine figure — news greeted with cheers by most of the American public.

Suit Silhouette
Suits for 1960 have trim, elongated jackets and skirts that are either slender and tapered toward the hemline or pleated all the way around, for travel ease. Although the newest suit silhouette shows the hip-length jacket, carefully shaped but not tightly fitted, there also are many shorter jackets available, from waist to hip-bone length.

The brief, boxy jacket is still with us, as is the perennial Chanel jacket. The semi-fitted jacket, with shaped front and loose back, also is present and accounted for. Suit fabrics are light in both weight and color, with pale beiges and grays at the top of the color popularity poll, much white in evidence and the classic black and navy also available and smart as ever. New high-color preferences take in the full range of greens, with a smattering of bright violet shown by some designers.

Width at Top
Spring coats achieve width above the belt in a number of ways — by wide cape, collar, deep-armholes, dolman sleeves, puffed push-up sleeves and kimono cuts. The straight-front, cape-back coat is a favorite in the spring lineup, as is the white town coat, the latter shown in light, spongy woolens or basket weaves. Silk coats in handsome rough textures and deep tones are shown for late-day wear.

Skirt lengths remain about the same — long enough to cover the kneecap, but no longer.

The slender silhouette is predominant in the daytime dress collections, but full or pleated skirts are available. Even when skirts are pleated they have a slim effect, whether pleats start from waistline or below the hip-line. Full skirts appear for after-five wear.

The dress-and-jacket costume remains an American favorite, with jackets brief in most instances. Often the bodice of the dress-and-jacket outfit is of a contrasting color, suggesting a separate blouse.

firm, no matter whether you're a size 10 or 42. It's a matter of proportion and shape."

Mrs. Gordon believes that many of the agonies of shopping could be avoided if women would wear the right kind of underpinnings when they go to try on dresses. She explains:

"If you're wearing a sloppy slip and an ill-fitting bra and girdle, you not only can't tell how the dress is going to look, but you also earn the scorn of the saleslady. If you want the proper respect and attention from the fitter, see that your lingerie and foundation garments are proper."

This year's dress fashions demand a natural, slightly lifted bosom, says Mrs. Gordon — no exaggeration, just proper definition.

Well Dressed Women Have Figure Control

BY DOROTHY ROE

"The secret of a well-dressed woman is what's beneath her dress," says Pauline Gordon, who has devoted most of her adult life to shaping the female form divine.

Mrs. Gordon travels the world inspecting fashions in feminine bosoms, and the underpinnings that keep them under control. She has observed that big bosoms are admired in Italy, small ones in China, shapely ones in America — but anywhere in the world a woman's beauty depends on the quality of her curves. Says she:

"Did you ever see a beautiful, fashionable woman with sagging bosom and spreading hips?" she demands. "Of course not! The most gorgeous dress in the world can look a mess if the figure beneath it is out of shape."

"You don't have to have a perfect figure to look well in your clothes, but you do have to keep the figure you have under control. The bosom can be high and rounded, the waistline defined, the hips

Objects to Ash Litter on Car Floor

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I drive my own car and very often I pick up several women friends and drive them to our bridge club meeting. Most of these women smoke. I object to their flicking ashes all over the floor of my car. Will you please tell me how I can tactfully bring this to their attention?

Answer: You may tell them that you find it very hard to brush cigarette ashes out of the floor covering of the car and would they please help by putting theirs in the ash receivers.

Signifies Reply

Dear Mrs. Post: A bachelor friend of mine gave a party recently. He sent out invitations to people he had met in the recent past — some of them he just knew casually. The invitations included R.s.v.p. Some of the guests did not respond at all, and did not come. He thinks they are guilty of a social error. He feels R.s.v.p. means to answer one way or the other — yes or no — but to answer. I do not think it necessary to reply to an invitation if not going. What is correct?

Answer: An invitation with R.s.v.p. on it must be answered whether or not one is going to the party.

Buttering Bread
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a controversy about buttering a piece of bread? I think a piece of bread or roll should be broken off, but left on the plate to be buttered. Holding it in mid-air has always seemed awkward to me, but some of my younger friends think not. Which way is really correct?

Answer: Hold it against the rim of your plate or a few inches above the plate. You should not hold it shoulder high, nor should you let it lie flat on the plate — unless you are spreading it for someone else and therefore trying to avoid holding it in your fingers.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-11, entitled, "Do You Know Your ABC's in Manners?" Dramatic Introvert

"... My husband is a very baffling person. I'm never sure that he really means what he says. Sometimes I doubt that he loves me, although he certainly convinced me before we were married."

Your husband has a gifted mind and an intriguing personality. He's a great showman but emotionally fearful.

Those who write so large crave to impress and be admired. When letters slant so far to the left, however, the writer isn't as sure of himself as he may appear to be.

Wide loops indicate a social manner but underneath he is distrustful. Some childhood experience may have put him emotionally on guard.

You may have discovered that he becomes antagonistic for reasons that to you seem trivial.

Sometimes you may not be able to find out why he is offended. Circle i-dots accent his introversion.

Your own writing reveals a gentle, affectionate, responsive nature. You are always ready with a helping hand. When your husband seems unreasonable, use your patience to help him be more secure.

His writing reveals much creative talent. He needs to find self-expression for his gifts in a vocation such as art, advertising, promotion, or the stage. If tied to a dull routine he may fail; yet he has a capacity for achievement on a large scale. Encourage him!

Miss Stafford welcomes letters from her readers. They cannot be acknowledged but the most interesting ones will be used in her column. (Copyright, 1960)

Editors View Latest Styles in New York

BY DOROTHY ROE

New York — Width at the top of the silhouette is the theme of Edward Abbott's fashion collection for spring. And it might be the title of a whole range of 1960 clothes now being previewed by more than 200 visiting fashion editors.

The new fashions blossom with frills and turlowins above the waist, taper to stemlike slimmness below. There are floating tiered capes, collars, puffed, puffed or shirred sleeves — every possible device for achieving width at the top.

Wilson Folmar, designer for Abbott, believes that women should look alluring at any hour of the day, and proceeds to show them how in his collection of romantic, feminine dresses, highlighting a full range of cobwebby world look. For these are sheer fabrics used most dramatically in black and white. He achieves a strictly siren of the world this year, looking in the use of black or ganza and chiffon in deceptively demure, covered-up cocktail and dinner dresses, sometimes with high collars that manage to look more daring than the most revealing bare-top styles. The team of Harvey Berlin and Karen Stark show the "coquette" silhouette — a flaring overskirt over a slim sheath — in a variety of delicate fabrics, such as lace, chiffon and taffeta, designed for festive wear. There's a crisp, frothy look to the Berlin dresses, which make the wearer look and feel like a Dresden china figurine. Branel shows the indispensable little black dress in several versions, usually slender device for achieving, sleeves are wide and short, shoulders are subtly extended and the total effect is new, feminine and appealing.

Your Problems

Brother-in-Law Fumes While Writer Cleans, Cooks, Baby Sits

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband's sister-in-law has had four miscarriages in the past two years. They have three little girls. Every time Bess goes to the hospital the kids and their Daddy move in with us. They are Ann Landers with us now. Yesterday I asked my brother-in-law to go to the store and get two quarts of milk. He said "Fine. Where's the money?" I answered "your kids drink milk, too. Pay for it yourself." He got red in the face, called me cheap and said he'd never ask a guest in his home to buy groceries.

When my husband came from work he got a distorted version. When he accused me of not being gracious I almost blew up. His brother stood there and smirked.

When my husband and I were alone I told him next time Bess has a miscarriage his brother and the kids can go to his mother's house. He called me a hard-headed Dutchman. Let's have your opinion for the record—The H. H.D.

DEAR H. H. D.: There's more involved here than who pays for the milk. Your brother-in-law has shown himself to be not only petty but a trouble-maker.

Since you are the one who must cook, clean and care for the extra "guests" you should have the right to refuse if you feel put upon.

DEAR ANN: I read your column every day and get a big charge out of the lonesome widows who write and ask you where the eligible men are hiding. Here's a different slant for your column. It may make some of those lonesome widows feel better.

I was a widow, 50 years old and feeling sorry for myself. Along came a good-looking widower. I had a good job in a bank, owned my own home, drove a new car and had some blue chip stocks.

The widower phoned three times a day, met me for lunch, took me dining and dancing, and talked me into marrying him.

Now 12 months later, he owes me $3,000. His new business venture is headed for the rocks. My maid cooks for him and does his laundry. I pay won't give up. What can be done to get this pushy female to leave my gabby relatives. In brief, I boy friend alone?—Tired-of-Her-Pestiness

Dear Tired-Of-Her - Pestiness (or should I say Afraid-Of - Competition): Don't look now but your lack of confidence is showing. If you were sure of your ground the phone calls would hand you a laugh.

If Rod is reporting the girl's every move he's probably sitting back enjoying it immensely—and encouraging her quietly. All this action makes him look like a Big Man. Smarten Up.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) (Copyright, 1960)

UW Adopts Summer Fees

Out-of-State Pupils To Feel Change Decided by School

Madison — At the suggestion of the Wisconsin legislature's joint committee on finance, the University of Wisconsin will institute special fees for out-of-state students at its summer sessions.

University regents have approved a new schedule of summer sessions fees including the differential for out-of-state students. Until now non-residents of Wisconsin paid the same fees in summer as Wisconsin residents, though there has been a major difference in the fees paid by residents and non-residents in the regular sessions for many years.

Instituting higher fees for non-residents enabled the University to minimize the fee increase for residents this summer, summer sessions officials pointed out.

The new schedule raises last year's $75 fee for the 8-week summer session to $80 for residents; $110 for non-residents; last year's $100 fee for the 10-week session to $107 for residents, $147 for non-residents; the $60 6-week fee to $65 for residents and $90 for non-residents; the $42 4-week fee to $45 for residents and $62 for non-residents.

Comparable changes are made in fees for sessions of other lengths and fees were revised for other summer session activities. The Madison campus fees include infirm and memorial union costs; the Milwaukee campus fees include union and student activity costs.

A $10 late registration fee and a schedule of late payment fees ranging from $5 to $15 also were approved by the regents.

The action included a simplified method of determining residency in the summer sessions by student certification and spot checks. Regular session students who have been exempted from non-resident fees will, in the main, be allowed to continue their exemptions during summer sessions.

Dr. Milton Varos, chief psychologist for the Wisconsin Department of Public Welfare, spoke to parents of nursery-school children Monday evening at a parent-education night at the YMCA. The speaker, at left, is pictured with Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gabert and Mrs. Robert H. Gillespie. He told parents that nursery school instructors can help youngsters to adjust and overcome problems because they don't have the emotional ties which their parents have.

Curtain Divider Conquers Problem

After awhile, that fashionable open and airy effect in the room with glass walls sometimes seems too open and airy. Dividers of some kind seem to be a good idea, but what kind? They needn't always be furniture or especially built partial walls. Here's an idea for an easily made, easy-to-install divider—a semi-sheer curtain that hangs from a ceiling track.

Part of the light from outdoors filters out without the necessity of closing curtain over the entire wall. And the atmosphere of the room changes—the curtain backgrounds a sofa to create a certain inviting, closely companionable effect for a conversation grouping that it didn't have before. Here the curtain also helps to define a passageway to the room beyond.

Send today for Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet "What's Wrong with that Room?", a quick check list of room faults and how to correct them—a booklet that contains so much information it's a short-short course in practical decorating.

For your copy, address Miss Hillyer at this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents with your request.

GI Insurance Dividends to be Paid to 103,360

An estimated 103,360 Wisconsin veterans who hold participating GI life insurance will receive $5,194,800 in regular annual policy dividends during 1960.

This represents Wisconsin's GI policyholders' proportionate share in a national 1960 dividend total of $253,500,000 declared recently for participating GI insurance, Francis Heesakker, veterans service officer, says.

The dividends are primarily a refund to policyholders of part of their premium payments, and are made possible because the death rate among GI policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were established by law, Heesakker explained.

Policyholders should not make dividend inquiries in advance. This would delay processing time.

Dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy during 1960.

Resort Fashions

For resort wear, all fashion roads lead to white. It is the color!

So if you are cruise or resort bound, do consider building your wardrobe around white. The scheme is terrific. First off, white has a kinship with the resort setting—the brilliant foliage, sky and water. It also sets off your tan. Furthermore, it offers the possibility of interchangeable accessories, and that is a distinct advantage for those who travel light.

Fashion's way of accessorizing white is with pale beige, from bone to putty. Or with the new powdery shade of lilac, pink or yellow. Very handsome it is, too!

The choice of fabrics in white is all-encompassing. The favorites are wool tweeds and basketweaves, classic cottons, knits of every variety, silk crepes, chiffons and laces.

As for styles, the pacemakers are these: two-piece swim suits, beach capes, ankle-length patio skirts and pajamas; casual coattresses; pleated skirts; topped by a "gentleman's" jacket; snugly-girdled dancing dresses with the tunic line or a waterfall of skirt. Combined, those points spell out a handsome travel wardrobe, for now and through next summer. Do you know in detail what lines in clothing enhance your good points and play down the not-so-good? How it's done is told in our leaflet, "Your Most Becoming Lines." To obtain your copy, write me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and five cents in coin.

Boundaries Removed Lions Told of Need For Regional Planning

"Regional planning is city of Schellie and Associates, Indianapolis, Ind., which is planning with city limits removed," Clarence Hammond, former Fox Valley Regional Planning commission planner, told members of the Lions club Tuesday noon. By using planning, haphazard development throughout the area can be overcome, Hammond said.

After World War II local municipalities were looking for jobs for returning soldiers, he said. This search for industry was the basis of a start at planning, he added.

"The Fox Cities are growing faster than we realize," Hammond said. In 1940 there were 41,000 people in the area covered by Kaukauna, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute, Appleton, Neenah and Menasha. By 1950 there were 92,000 people. Projected figures by the end of 1960, he said, see 112,000 to 118,000 persons.

Automobiles, too, have multiplied in the Fox Cities, he noted. In 1935 there were 16,000. In 1956 there were 38,000.

The Fox Valley Regional Planning commission is unique in that it is the only one of its type in the state, Hammond explained. Many are watching the Fox Cities and will learn by our mistakes and progress the feasibility of group planning, he said.

Sen. Proxmire Believes Nelson Should Give Democratic Kickoff Talk

Washington — (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) today suggested Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin as the ideal man to deliver the keynote address at this year's Democratic national convention.

Proxmire, in a letter to Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler urging Nelson's selection, said the governor would be highly effective with a national television audience as well as with the convention delegates.

"Nelson," Proxmire wrote, "has two qualities which I think are essential in a successful keynote speaker: 'First, deep and broad understanding and appreciation of the basic national and international problems that confront the country and, second, a delightfully amusing sense of humor. His speeches are always in good taste.'"

Approve Study of Testing Program

School Board Told No Money Needed; UW Will Provide Help

A study and evaluation of Appleton's present psychological, intelligence and achievement testing program for all school children was named the Wisconsin Improvement program project for the city by the board of education Monday.

The project will be expense free, Supt. John P. Mann predicted. University of Wisconsin specialists will supervise the work in Appleton under a grant from the Ford foundation, but administered by the UW, with Dr. John Guy Fowlkes in charge.

The board's action ended nearly a year of discussion about possible participation in the program. Appleton was one of nine Wisconsin communities selected for the project, but originally the board seemed hesitant about it, questioning financial involvement. A month ago it decided participation would be wise and authorized several teacher committees to draw up plans for various projects.

A 12-member testing committee of principals, resource people and teachers drew up a list of 13 "important points for consideration."

Better Schedule Needed

1. The dates of testing need study. Perhaps a better schedule can be worked out.
2. The grade levels at which testing is done should be examined.
3. Some of the achievement testing now being made may not be appropriate for the curriculum offered.
4. There are indications that recording of test results could be improved.

Better Training Program

5. The program of in-service training for interpretation and use of the present program should be strengthened.
6. The use of test date should be reviewed.
7. Some tests being given were copyrighted in 1950, indicating a need for bringing the tests up to date.
8. Are too many tests being given?
9. More achievement testing is needed in the high school.
10. There is some testing continuity throughout the school system, but the tests are not administered centrally, giving anyone authority to coordinate or improve testing continuity.
11. Adequate Budget
12. There is an adequate budget.
13. Data are available that would permit compiling case studies.
13. Licensed psychometrists (the system has two) are a great asset to the testing program.

The present city-wide testing program began in 1945 and has been revised. It includes intelligence, achievement, aptitude, interests, readiness and personality tests or inventories.

Begin at Age 5

Testing begins at the kindergarten level, when a primary mental abilities intelligence test is given. Children who are not five before Sept. 1 are tested before entering school to determine their readiness.

In first grade, one reading readiness and one reading tests are given, one at the beginning of the year, the other at the end. Two similar reading tests also are given in second and third grades.

In fourth grade, a mental maturity exam is given in September, along with two sets of achievement tests, one at the beginning and one at the end of the year.

Special Testing

In fifth and sixth grades, similar achievement tests are given. In addition, special personality, arithmetic and spelling tests are available, along with special tests for the orthopedic and opportunity department students.

In seventh grade, another intelligence test is given, along with achievement tests in mathematics, language, reading and spelling. A personality test is optional.

In eighth grade, an algebraic ability test is given in February.

In ninth grade, another intelligence test is given (the fourth) along with achievement tests in math, language, reading and spelling. A geometric aptitude test is given in February.

High School Tests

During the sophomore year in high school, a personality test and an interest inventory are taken in the fall and a shorthand aptitude test in the spring.

During the junior year, the fifth intelligence test is taken, along with achievement tests in geometry, shorthand and reading. Another interest inventory also is taken.

During the senior year, achievement tests in English and algebra are given, along with an aptitude test in trigonometry.

Semi-Trailer Crashes Into Railroad Flat Car

A semi-trailer unit crashed into a railroad flat car about 2:55 a.m. today in the 1000 block of N. Rankin street. Ronald J. Lamers, 24, route 3, Appleton, told police the tractor unit failed to respond when he tried to turn.

Talks Resumed On Plans to Ban Nuclear Tests

headed by Dr. James B. Fisk, executive vice president of Bell Telephone Laboratories, submitted detailed scientific data to show that a technical control plan the scientists had agreed on previously no longer was adequate to detect underground tests.

Little Progress
The Soviet scientists, headed by Prof. Evgeny Federov, ridiculed the American data and said it was deliberately distorted to impede the negotiations.

Eisenhower's statement said this "intemperate and technically unsupportable" Soviet assertion had clouded the atmosphere of the talks.

In their 14 months of negotiations, the American, British and Soviet delegations have drafted only the administrative framework for a worldwide organization to police a test ban. Most of the practical control procedure remains in dispute.

The collapse of the scientific discussions has left doubts whether a reasonably fool-proof control system is even possible at the present stage of scientific knowledge.

No Perfect System

Western scientists believe that a 100 per cent reliable system to detect underground nuclear blasts probably can never be achieved. The best they hoped for was agreement to permit an on-the-scene inspection of any suspicious earth tremor, and that this would create an adequate deterrent to a would-be violator.

The present Soviet attitude would in effect require proof of a violation prior to any such inspection. The west maintains that the shock waves of an underground nuclear test are so similar to those of thousands of earthquakes recorded every year that only an on-the-spot investigation can provide proof of a violation.

If agreement on a ban of all nuclear tests thus proves impossible at this stage, the west may fall back on an earlier suggestion for agreement to outlaw only tests above ground, in the atmosphere and under water. These tests are the easiest to police and spread most of the radioactivity believed to constitute a long-term hazard to health.

Against Partial Ban

The Soviet Union has repeatedly rejected the idea of such a partial test ban, but U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth may now seek to reopen the subject. The United States is unlikely to accept any treaty to ban underground tests unless the earlier control plan is brought up to date.

The British take a similar position, though they apparently are more ready to compromise. The British government reportedly believes that the pressure of world public opinion may prevent a resumption of American tests despite the end of the moratorium. According to this view, the two western powers are thus faced with the choice of an imperfect treaty all.

Cuba Rejects Protest On Property Seizure

domains provided fair and speedy compensation is made. Officials in Washington said the Castro government has made no payments for American-owned property seized so far except in the case of a few plantations producing fiber for twine. The agrarian reform law calls for payment with 20-year Cuban government bonds.

Apparently the U. S. note made no threat of retaliation. The state department said Cuba's position as the major beneficiary of U. S. sugar quota legislation was not mentioned. The sugar act, which sets up marketing quotas for foreign and domestic areas, expires next Dec. 31, and there have been suggestions in congress and elsewhere that Cuba's quota be cut in reprisal.

American property so far seized was estimated in Washington at five or six million dollars. U. S. investments in Cuba are estimated at about a billion dollars. The biggest takeover is expected to come this summer, after the sugar crop is harvested, when the Cuban government has announced it would carry out widespread expropriation of sugar properties.

Federal Court Orders

Voting for Negroes

New Orleans — A federal district court decree today ordered voting privileges returned to 1,377 Negroes purged from the Washington Parish (county) rolls by small technicalities. Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright issued the decree Monday in a suit filed last June 29 through the government's civil rights division under the 1957 civil rights act. The defendants were the White Citizens Council of Washington Parish, four council members who had challenged the Negroes' rights to vote, and Curtis M. Thomas, register of voters in the southeastern Louisiana parish.

The suit noted that while 1,377 Negroes had been challenged, only 10 white voters were removed. The government claimed the citizens

Gov. Brown to Organize Move Of Favorite Son

Sacramento, Calif. —

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, back from a 5-day fishing trip, is getting ready to organize his favorite son delegation to the Democratic national convention.

Political advisers said today the governor is expected to name a special committee next week to choose California's 162 delegates, each with a half vote.

It's his plan to pledge the 81 votes to Brown as a favorite son. No avowed candidate yet has indicated he intends to enter the state's Democratic presidential primary.

Brown's announcement will come after two caucuses this weekend in all likelihood endorse his nominal candidacy. Democratic state legislators are meeting in Bakersfield and California Democratic council directors in Fresno.

The Democratic state central committee, through its executive committee already has thrown support to Brown's favorite son role. Uninstructed delegations are not allowed in California.

Your Money's Worth Tight Money Will Grow Still Tighter

BY SYLVIA PORTER
You will pay the stiffest price in more than a generation for money you borrow in the months directly ahead. You will find loans increasingly tough to get, even though you are willing to pay the historically high interest rates demanded by lenders for cash.

You will be in an exceedingly precarious position if you are a small businessman, with a need for funds to carry out a project essential to your survival, but without established financial connections. We are flatly into a major cycle of tight and expensive credit, a cycle which began back in mid-1958 when we were just coming out of the 1957-58 recession. Assuming that the powerful business expansion so clearly underway now continues to gain power in early 1960, the cycle has not yet run its course.

No Easeup Seen
Just about every basic economic and financial factor is flashing a plain signal there will be no easing of pressures on the cost of money, no increase in the availability of credit soon.

Before spring comes we well may see another turn of the credit screws, even higher interest rates. There are two fundamental reasons for today's pinch on credit.

First, business is in a strong, broad upturn and as a result, demands for credit to finance rising activity are ballooning.

Corporation Expansion
Corporations will be asking for additional loans in these months to finance both the building of inventories slashed during the steel strike and expansion of plants. Individuals in every city and town will be asking for tremendous amounts of cash to finance their purchases of the new loan buyer, small business-1960 cars as well as their buy-man-pay rates scaled up of such other big items: dishwashers, air conditioners. States and cities are continuing to ask for record-sized loans to finance projects demanded by their swelling populations.

Second, the supply of credit needed to fulfill these rising loan demands is distinctly limited.

The banking system already is more loaned up than at any time since the 1920s. Banks have been lending billions of dollars throughout this recovery and many have raised their loan totals as high as they dare. The Federal Reserve system is keeping the lid on the credit it supplies to the banking system because it is as determined as ever not to permit easy, cheap credit to help turn this prosperity into another speculative boom.

Right now demand and supply forces in the marketplace are dictating that the U.S. treasury itself pay 5 per cent for cash. That's in the range of the highest prices the treasury has paid in this century.

High Bank Rates
Right now the Federal Reserve system (our central bank) is charging individual banks which borrow from it a rate of 4 per cent. It is quite possible that the Federal Reserve system will hike this rate—known as the discount rate—even higher before spring. Obviously, when your corner bank must pay 4 per cent to get cash, it's going to charge you considerably more when you borrow.

Right now the nation's top-ranked corporations are paying 5 per cent plus extras for short-term bank loans—and the extras are raising the cost of these loans closer to 6 than 5 per cent. It is quite possible that the banks will hike this rate—known as the prime rate—because it is the price charged to the bluest of blue-chip borrowers—above 5 per cent before spring.

The prime rate and the discount rate are the foundation prices around which all other loan prices revolve. You—as a homebuilder, installment buyer, small business-

Government's Killed Concept Of Bargaining

Political Interests Caused Ruling; Unions Now Secure

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Do labor and management really know what happened to "collective bargaining" in the steel strike "settlement"? Do they realize that "free collective bargaining," as the term has hitherto been used, is now a thing of the past? Are they aware that government dictation, based on political expediency, now has been substituted?

The way the steel strike was ended—through governmental pressure—has not yet been absorbed in its full significance by management, labor or the public.

The administration didn't intend to favor one side over the other, but the course adopted in desperation by the president—anything to settle the strike—led to the trap in which the government officials found themselves. Principle went by the boards—and expediency ruled the hour. Now monopoly power in big unions is more solidly entrenched than ever.

The pronouncements made by Mr. Eisenhower in his press conferences show how the president, perplexed by the most costly strike in history, gradually came to choose the easy way out—surrender to big unionism. Here are some significant excerpts:

No Government Pressure
July 15—"I believe that we have got thoroughly to test out and to use the method of free bargaining, and the second that we try to bring... collective bargaining about by pressure of government, that is too great, under the circumstances, then I believe it's not free."

Aug. 25—"I still insist that free bargaining means that these people must solve their own problems. I have urged all of them—both sides—not only in this strike but any other that is impending or even thought of, that negotiations must not contribute to inflation because here is a terrible enemy ready to pounce on us anytime we get unwary."

Sept. 28 — "Free collective bargaining — the logical recourse of a free people in settling industrial disputes — has apparently broken down."

"So far as governmental action can be brought to bear on this matter, I am not going to permit the economy of the nation to suffer with its inevitable injuries to all."

Personal Power
"It is up to both sides, labor and management, to recognize the responsibility they owe to our nation and settle their differences reasonably and promptly. I shall use every conceivable personal and official influence available to me to break the impasse."

The Taft-Hartley 80-day injunction was requested from the courts on Oct. 22 and was promptly granted. The president said on Dec. 2, after work was resumed:

"I have tried to use every bit of influence I have had officially or personally in this matter to get these people together... if we can't get anywhere on this thing, then finally the government just cannot sit idly on its hands. But, I do believe that the day we abandon free collective — honest free collective — bargaining, it is going to be a sad day for the United States."

The "sad day" arrived when, upon instructions from the president, pressure was applied by both the vice president and the secretary of labor, and finally on January 4 a so-called "settlement" was announced. Apparently political considerations weighed heavily with the administration and the regular mediating machinery was sidetracked. The administration wanted and needed a "prosperity" slogan for the 1960 political campaign.

Crisis Each Time?
But what about 1961 and 1962 when the prices in most industries are raised to offset wage increases similar to those granted in steel? What about "free collective bargaining" in future years? Will big unions force a crisis each time and, by organized blackmail, compel the political administration in power to put pressure on management to accept "settlement" pleasing to labor? It was announced last week

Charlie Seeks Old Railroad Laws For Archives of Train Museum

BY CHARLES HOUSE

The effort, ingenuity and public spirit of a small group of men has brought to these communities a national railroad museum. Located in Green Bay, the growing institution promises to be the world headquarters for railroad lore — the home of the Iron Horse.

The National Railroad Museum is past its dawning; it is, in fact, the final resting place of some of the old trains in America's gaudy past. But it is time, too, for John Q. Citizen to swing aboard and lend a hand.

Here's one way where help can be provided:

Among some of the interesting railroad stories of the days of yore are elderly regulations legislated against the railroads. A collection of these laws, in appropriate form, would be a wondrous addition to the museum which as yet, has no library.

Examples:

In Gary, Ind., there once was a law prohibiting persons from boarding a train or street car within four hours after eating garlic.

No Sneezing!

In West Virginia, it was a criminal offense to sneeze aboard a train. A person, could, apparently, be attacked by the strong desire to sneeze but that was as far as it could go. Sneezing in a train and voila! Jail.

In the early years of railroad, it was fully believed that trains would lower the morals of a whole people, especially on Sundays. Thus, quaint laws were legislated for observation of the Sabbath.

In Vermont, people objected to the passage of trains through the state on Sunday. But, they averred, it was a period of advancement and they did not wish to stand in the way. They would permit trains to be routed through the state if the conductor would read the Bible to the passengers while within the state. This maintained whether passengers wanted it or not.

Some states forbade the passage of freight trains through their lands on the Sabbath with one exception. If the train carried livestock, it was permitted to travel through.

Well-Traveled Donkeys

Railroad men were in a dither over this law until someone got an idea: Put a donkey on board every train going through the involved states. It worked, too. For a while, a little Arkansas burro was the most traveled beast in the world.

Even today there is a no-freight-train law on the Sabbath in some states, but the laws are not enforced. Such a law is on the books in New Jersey and in Georgia.

Social elegance also appeared in an early railroad law. In Texas, that ever-so-prim state, it was decreed that a train could not pass through the land unless there was one spittoon for every three cars.

In Nebraska law required that if a train struck an animal on the tracks, the engineer was to render first aid, apply bandages and otherwise provide emergency treatment. Then, he was required by law to transport the injured animal to the nearest veterinarian for professional treatment.

In Maine, it is still against the law to wear spiked shoes in either a railroad station or in a railroad car.

Curtained Windows

Perhaps the ladies of Michigan's earlier days had a hand in this bit of legislation, but it was once required that any locomotive to operate in that state must, by law, have the windows thereof decorated with curtains.

In Arizona, woe betide the engineer of any train who permitted water from that train to drip upon the soil of Arizona. It was a criminal offense.

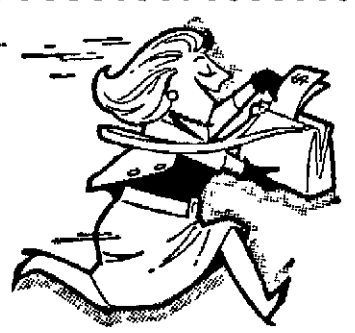

One of the most amusing of all laws came from the minds of Kansas legislators who, apparently, deemed an impossible thing to be possible by law. The law read:

"When two trains are scheduled to meet at a railroad crossing within five minutes of each other, both trains must come to a complete halt and neither can start until the other train is out of sight."

In Ohio, a law demanded that the only acceptable devices to be used for illuminating trains be candles.

Now who, in northeastern Wisconsin, is a good enough researcher to dig out of the cobwebs a good set of the old laws of an earlier America? It is a splendid chance for a service to the state of Wisconsin, and one which will be treasured and given a final place to rest for all the years to come.

Up now, you lazy bones!

Students Elect Executive Board Of Eight Members

Neenah — Class officers and an executive board have been elected by members of the senior class at Neenah High school.

Judy Rogness has been picked as president and other officers include Gary Bayer, vice president; Jill Bylow, secretary; and Steve King, treasurer.

The executive board includes eight members each selected from their respective social problems class. The board works in collaboration with the officers and serves as an intermediary between underclassmen and seniors.

Executive Board
The executive board includes Carol Kruse, Raeburn Carlson, Lois Germuga, Ned Read, Gary Roo, Jim Sherman and Jill Harker.

The class also has selected committee chairmen to work on such projects as the senior banquet, commencement speaker, the class will and publicity.

Senior service has been initiated by the class this year. This is a plan by which seniors can help underclassmen with such things as preparations for the prom, variety show, homecoming floats and class dances.

Senior Service
One of the more interesting projects included in Senior service is the sponsorship of two children through the foster parents agency plan.

At the start of the school year the seniors voted to donate $360 to the plan to help provide for support of two children for a year. Being aided are an 11-year-old boy from Greece named George Stamatiadis and a Korean 10-year-old, Chio Soon Nam. At Christmas the class sent presents to the youngsters and money orders earned through the sale of apples. It is planned to send other gifts, cards and letters during the year.

The service aims of the class also include participation in World Clothing week and donating to the Red Cross blood bank.

Circuit Judge Helmuth Arps Nov. 18 issued a writ of mandamus ordering the board to allow all students, especially the Woodrows, to take part in any competitive sports without the insurance coverage.

Compulsory insurance, furnished by Old Line Life Insurance company, was ordered by the board of education Aug. 10. Each policy cost $2. The board did not seek competitive bids on the insurance.

The minor amendment to the petition states "the board has set up the unlawful requirement that no student participate in competitive sports unless the parent of said child or the child himself shall

Tullar District Gives $150,000 Bond Issue Okay

3 Classroom, Kindergarten Addition to School Planned

Neenah — Tullar school district residents Monday night voted 37 to 20 to bond the district for $150,000 to build an addition to the present school west of here.

Present plans call for adding three classrooms, a kindergarten and a shower room, plus some dining facilities for the hot lunch program in the basement under the new structure.

Harlan Hirschy, school board chairman, outlined the problem of school overcrowding facing the district and Henry Malchow, building committee chairman, told the committee's actions.

Some of those present favored dropping the kindergarten room and Hirschy said this would save about $15,000. Another $8,000 could be saved if the shower room was eliminated.

New High School Law
Uppermost in many of the minds was what would happen to the school when the new state high school district law takes effect.

"If we go in, this school fits," Hirschy told the group. "If it does not go in, we have to have the space anyway. We have had to split grades and secure special help," he continued in referring to the present school load which now numbers more than 160 pupils in five classrooms.

The school board expects 10 to 20 pupils to be added each year, all of which means that more space will be needed. He thought it only a matter of several years before the last of the new rooms to be added would be used.

One resident asked about the effect on the school population when the new parochial school for St. Gabriel's parish is completed. Hirschy said it was thought about 40 pupils would be lost and this would bring the classroom size down to that advocated by the state. There are now 35 to 40 pupils per classroom.

Possible Tuition Costs
The new parochial school was one of three things facing the board. The second was the high school district law and the third was that if nothing is done some children will have to be sent elsewhere on a tuition basis. He estimated this cost at $11,000 for the first year, $18,000 for the second year and possibly as high as $30,000 for the third year.

Some residents proposed that Tullar school should join the Neenah school system now rather than wait until the July, 1962, deadline. This way would enable the entire city to share the cost of the new

Board Recommends Preservation of Field

Limit Use, Reseed Butte des Morts Area For Final Football Season Next Fall

Menasha — Three recommendations to preserve Butte des Morts athletic field for its final football season next fall were ratified Monday by the board of education.

In its 35-minute open-to-the-public session, the 2-member board also approved new lockers, roof repair and other minor repairs at Butte des Morts school, which will become the junior high next fall.

The field will be replaced, probably by fall 1961, by Nathan Calder field, a parcel of land donated to the city by Banta Company foundation through George Banta, Jr., president of George Banta company.

The new field is on Warsaw street extended, about 660 feet north of the present city limits.

Gift Includes Cash
The foundation gift also includes $25,000 in cash to develop the field and erect a permanent stadium.

Announcement of the gift was made Dec. 15, a day after the board of education ordered a study of football field needs. The field is to be named.

Airport to Get New Instrument Landing System
Oshkosh — An instrument landing system for the Winnebago county airport is one of 750 projects approved by the federal aviation agency (FAA) in a $118,200,000 program to improve the nation's air navigation and air traffic control systems, according to the Associated Press.

Installation is scheduled this year at an estimated cost of $195,900. It is one of 18 such systems scheduled for installation this year by the FAA.

The system guides aircraft during final approach to an airfield using radio transmitters that indicate direction of the runway and angle of the glide path, coupled with radio marker beacons showing the plane's position along the approach path.

Roof Window Leaks
Sixth and seventh graders now in public schools total 258, the same number of lockers now in the building. However, an enrollment increase, possibly beginning next September in the junior high, dictates more lockers or doubling-up.

In the Butte des Morts girls' shower room, a steam pipe, now covered by insulation, also will be shielded with metal, to prevent possible tearing off the insulation by vandals.

Durrant and Bergquist, architectural firm which supervised construction of Clovis Grove school, will make a report in the next few weeks on roof window leaks.

Help Baby Learn to Talk By Giving Good Example

By Dorothy Whipple, M.D.
AP News Service Writer

Talking doesn't just start all of a sudden when your baby first says "Ma-Ma" and you're sure it means you. Babies start using their voices when they are only weeks old. There is a definite pattern by which speech finally comes into being.

When you understand this pattern you can help your child learn to talk and to talk well.

The first sounds a baby makes are cries. He begins with the birth cry and throughout the early weeks he cries when he is uncomfortable. When he is content he is quiet except for a few grunts, coughs, sneezes and hiccoughs.

Before he is a month old, however, your baby begins making little noises when he is content — comfort sounds we might call them. You hear them when he is guzzling down his good warm milk.

As he gets a little older and is awake more your baby begins to play and he plays with his voice as well as his hands. He makes sounds first, just at random, but before long he listens to them, repeats them and sometimes laughs at what he has done. He chuckles, he coos, he gurgles and in the course of the sounds he makes he covers the gamut of all the sounds human beings are capable of making — many more than he will ever need for English.

Happy Baby

The happier your baby is the more he babbles. The baby who spends much of his waking time crying and uncomfortable just doesn't have time to play with his voice.

Toward the end of the first year your baby's "talking" goes into a new phase and a your voice long before he us- to which they refer. "Bottle" vitally important one — he's real words. Be sure you you say as you hand him his begins to copy sounds he have a voice you want cop- beloved milk and you repeat "bottle, bottle." He may say it after you and it may come out "bot" or "bot-bot."

Copies Tone

A child copies what he hears, but in the beginning of this new ability, his ear is not too accurate. He makes lots of mistakes but he gets your intonation and tone and tempo more accurately than he gets the words themselves. A child who hears only French spoken babbles a French jargon you can recognize as French because of its tempo and inflection.

Word Practice

During this jargon stage you can do much to help your child. Talk to him, let him hear plenty of pleasant talk, sing to him. Let him know you enjoy his "talk" even though you cannot understand it. Remember it doesn't mean anything to him either, except that it's a nice kind of play.

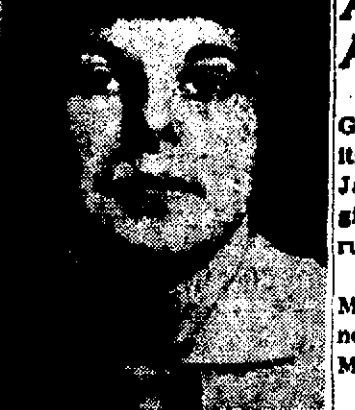

Begin saying words to him a baby.

It is easier to say two syllables the same than to rearrange your whole vocal apparatus to make the second syllable different. Even though he says it after you he may not make the connection that the sound means the object. But keep on and one fine day the light will dawn and he will say his first real word and know what he means.

From then on you are well started. Talk, talk, talk to him, say the words clearly and accurately. Don't repeat his mistakes, don't talk baby talk to him. Give him a good example to follow. Baby talk is cute and there will be plenty of it for you to enjoy but your youngster will develop better if you help him grow up instead of helping him stay a baby.

The new modern machine shown in the photo above is the completely automatic cleaning machine that was recently purchased by Gunderson's. It is a 2-bath unit which means that the firm can produce service that is now fast and also of high quality.

You can tell the difference between the results at Gunderson's and anywhere else. Here there is no oily film. The cleaning brings out the brightest, freshest colors in clothes.

Part of the credit can be attributed to the vastly superior solvent designed especially for this dry cleaning machine. The solvent is fast and more thorough than petroleum solvents. Also, it dissipates in much less time and never leaves an offensive odor.

Therefore, the articles of clothing can be dried and deodorized with less heat which means less shrinkage than any other process. Shrinkage is caused by excessive moisture, excessive heat and excessive mechanical action — all three causes which are kept at a minimum at Gunderson's.

In addition, the cleaning solution is continually filtered and distilled throughout the cleaning process, resulting in cleaner, fresher, and brighter clothes.

Following the cleaning process, the clothes at Gunderson's are carefully and immaculately pressed. The firm has all air-driven presses, resulting in an equal amount of pressure exerted on each garment whether it is thick or thin material.

If you want your clothes to look their best, have them cleaned at Gunderson Cleaning and Laundry, 41 Main street, Menasha. They are qualified members of the National Institute of Dry Cleaners and American Institute of Launderers. The phone number is PA 2-7733.

Broadcast Hash Now Available in Family Size Cans

A full page, full color newspaper ad will carry a 20-cent off coupon for Broadcast Corned Beef Hash. The ad will break the second week in February in the Appleton Post-Crescent. The coupon will apply toward the purchase of two cans of the regular size or one can of the new family size Broadcast Corned Beef Hash. Two color newspaper ads will be used wherever full color is not available. The ad will run in all of Broadcast's Corned Beef Hash major markets.

The prime purpose of the coupon campaign is to help introduce the new 26 ounce family size. The new size is the first attempt by a major packer to offer an economy size for larger families.

Many families found one can of regular size hash not enough for their needs and two cans wasteful. The new family size contains five to six servings as against three to four servings for the 15 1/2 ounce size.

Detailed Planning Precedes Sawtells' Transatlantic Move

BY MARION DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — Most housewives consider a move across the country, or even across town, a large undertaking, but Mrs. Richard B. Sawtell is preparing to move her family and household goods to Paris for several years with a minimum amount of flurry.

Accompanied by their daughter, Barbara, 13, Mr. and Mrs. Sawtell will fly to France Jan. 29, where he will be managing director of a mill to be operated by Kimberly-Clark corporation.

Because Mr. Sawtell's office will be in the city, they will look for an apartment in Paris. The mill itself is about 18 miles outside of the city. "We are taking about half of our furniture," Mrs. Sawtell said, "The most difficult part of the move is deciding what to take, what to store and what to discard. It has been a wrench to make up my mind to throw away mementoes with only sentimental value which all families acquire but take up a lot of space."

"We are taking most of our kitchen equipment, including the refrigerator with a freezing compartment. They are practically impossible to buy in France and most housewives must market every day."

Hallmark Silver
"The movers will pack for us and we must make a list of everything we take into the country. They hallmark all the sterling silver that is brought in, even for household use, so that there will be no problem about paying duty when we return to the United States."

"Difficulty with the language is one of the greatest barriers to getting along in another country and we are working hard to brush up our meager French. We are taking the business of being good American ambassadors seriously, and I have been reading books on the pitfalls it is so easy to fall into when one moves to another country. "The first thing, of course, was to break the news that we were moving to the children. Barbara, who is in eighth grade at Kimberly junior high school is unhappy about moving and would have loved to stay to finish eighth grade here. Bill is a junior at the University of Illinois, and he will fly over for the summer. He will probably take some French courses at the university there. It is very difficult for visitors to get a work permit in France."

League Tells Topic For Units

Neenah — Foreign policy will be the topic for January unit meetings of Neenah-Menasha League of Women Voters to be held at 9 a.m., 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. Chester Shepard, Lake road, Menasha.

The topic will include a discussion of such questions as criticisms of current foreign aid programs and the United States' role in world economic development. Unit meetings will be centered on questions appearing in the League's new publication, "World Economic Development."

The Jan. 25 board meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. O. Woerner, 669 Congress street.

Band Mothers To Hold Supper

Menasha — St. Mary Band and Chorus Mothers club will sponsor a pancake supper, open to the public, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Jan. 24 at St. Mary school.

Proceeds of the supper will be used to redecorate the band and chorus room. Club officers are in charge of supper arrangements. Committee members at a Monday meeting were Mmes. Richard Danner, James Beisenstein, Carl Blank, John Dachelet, Clarence Godhardt, Lloyd Clouse and Robert Crikelair.

here. Bill is a junior at the University of Illinois, and he will fly over for the summer. He will probably take some French courses at the university there. It is very difficult for visitors to get a work permit in France."

Grandchildren
The Sawtells' other daughter, Mrs. Everett Kinsberg, lives in Whitefish Bay with her husband and two children. "We will miss seeing our grandchildren for such a long period of time, but if we can manage to have them visit us in Paris it will be wonderful for them — and for us," Mrs. Sawtell added, a bit wistfully.

Mrs. Sawtell has been very active in Twin City organizations during the 22 years she and her husband have lived in the community. Among the organizations she has worked with are the Emergency society, the Association of American University Women, the Episcopal church women, the Visiting Nurse association and the Fox River Girl Scout council. She is also presently vice chairman of the Great Lakes regional committee, which does liaison work between the national and local boards of Girl Scout organizations.

"We have had many touching and wonderful notes and telephone calls from friends, people who have worked on committees with us, former employees of Dick's and mine all wishing us luck. It is so kind of everyone to take the trouble to let us know we will be missed. And I know there will be many times while we are gone that I will be homesick and lonely for all our friends here."

Southern Trip

Menasha — Mrs. Percy Walsh, 220 Water street, has returned home after spending the holidays with her son, George, stationed at Biloxi Air Force base, Mississippi, and with George's family in San Antonio, Texas.

Zephyrs Vie With Strong Preble '5'

Gun for 12th Straight Win; Hornets Post 4-2 Conference Record; Lose to Premontre

Menasha — What could well be one of their most difficult assignments of the season confronts the St. Mary's Zephyrs tonight when they travel to the Green Bay suburb of Preble in search of their 12th straight win.

Tonight's meeting will be the first athletic get together between the two schools. Preble was established about five or six years ago.

Riding the crest of an 11-game win string, the Zephyrs play their second last nine league encounter of the campaign. The only other non-conference game left is a date against Stevens Point Pacelli. They also have seven league games.

Preble boasts one of the most prolific scorers in the state in "Bucky" Wickman. The 6-0 senior forward was the Northeastern Wisconsin conference scoring champ last year and had an overall average of 21 points per game.

He broke the school record with 37 points against Pulaski in the first game this season and had a rousing 43 on 17 baskets and nine free throws against Seymour last Friday night.

Assisting Wickman is 6-4 center Willie Cullens, who counted 32 against Seymour, giving the pair all but 10 of their team's 85 points. Against De Pere last Tuesday evening Cullens scored 28 points and Wickman tallied 25.

More consistent Wickman has been the more consistent, hitting in the double figures in every game. Cullens had three and 6-point totals in two of the earlier games.

Jerry Wallenfang, a forward, is the only other letterman on the squad. The Hornets are coached by Bill Desjard, who has been at Preble since the school was organized. He formerly coached at Kewaunee.

Preble currently has a 4-2 record in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. Its wins have been in succession. Sandwiched between the conference victories was a surprise 62-55 loss to Green Bay Premontre. The Cadets are in the midst of one of their poorest seasons.

Coach Ralph McClone started Jim Koerner, Dean Schreiner, Pete Vanderhyden, Jerry Laemmrich and Mike Herlache against Wayland Saturday night, using Schreiner at guard and Koerner in his forward spot. However, Bill Becker, a starter since the injury to Jim Rueckl, was inserted in the game early and sparked the Menashas to a second period lead which they never lost.

Terrian Rolls High 614 Score In Neenah Loop

Neenah — Herb Terrian's 614 series garnered honors in the Baseball Mixed Couples Bowling league at Lakeroad Lanes.

Dick Loehning rolled 605 and Jim Peters had a 584 total. Browns (22-5) lead three challengers by three games.

"Babe" Harding of the Mixed Nuts team bowled a 519 series and Marie Forgie of M and M's had a 203 game in the Steiner's Grocers league at Lakeroad Lanes.

Friday afternoon at Lakeroad. The former included a 200 game in her best three-some and the latter finished with 500. Mixed Nuts lead the league with a 32-7 record.

Koslowski Clouts 646 In First Niter League

Baumler Claims Share of Honors With 241 Single

Neenah — Hilly Koslowski of the Stanislawski team fired a 646 series and Wally Baumler of Wayside Inn rolled a 241 game in the First Niter Bowling league Monday night at Lakeroad Lanes.

Leroy Beyer hit 238, Bob Kargus 233, Don Mulzer 226 and Baumler 225. Lakeroad Lanes (37-17) has a 2-game lead.

Verna Drucks rolled a 193 game and 538 series and Delia Klutz posted a 208 solo in the Trinity Lutheran Women's league Saturday night at Lakeroad. Novelty Press (35-16) leads by 8 1/2 games.

Paul Kuchenbecker's 233 solo paced the Trinity Lutheran Men's circuit Saturday night at Lakeroad. Monray Foods was the only team winning three games.

Wally Sellnow of the Wau-pun team bowled a 568 set in the Ball and Chain Mixed league Sunday night at Lakeroad.

Macs Kick Off 2nd Half Play With Victory

Down Reedsville 86-84; Lose Big 3rd Period Lead

Reedsville — The Menasha Macs opened second round play in the Eastern Wisconsin Amateur Basketball league by defeating Reedsville 86-84 here Sunday night.

The Macs had a seemingly-comfortable 72-59 lead at the close of the third period but the hosts hit a hot streak, tied the score and the lead changed hands several times before Jerry Smith broke an 84-all tie with two free throws with three seconds left. Reedsville had a free throw but missed and the Macs claimed the rebound.

The score was deadlocked at 23-all at the quarter and the Macs were ahead 51-44 at halftime. "Skip" Schuerer scored 22 points and Smith and Dick Rohe each had 19 for the Macs. Ron Akin scored 31 and Henry Schwartz had 18 for Reedsville.

The Macs will meet the Oshkosh State college jayvees Saturday night and play Hilbert here Sunday afternoon.

The Hilbert will be a replay of a first half game. The latter used ineligible players and although the Macs could take the win on forfeit, they agreed to settle the result on the court.

As a result of the replay, the Macs' only first half loss is wiped off the books. A Hilbert win Sunday would create another tie and a playoff while a Menasha victory would give it sole possession of the first half crown.

The box score:

January Storms Usually Worst Of Entire Season

January often brings us the worst snowstorms of the entire winter season, declares the state motor vehicle department.

As a motor vehicle owner and operator, give your car a mid-winter checkup now. Make certain all vital equipment is in order.

In driving — no one can do as much to keep out of accidents as you yourself. Slow down on snow and ice. Follow at safe distances. Carry tire chains and use them under hazardous conditions. Keep your windshield wipers, headlights and other lights, defroster, tires, and brakes in the condition that will assure you safety and comfort.

Don't Bank on Mr. Groundhog

Soon Mr. Groundhog will be the nation's weather prophet for a day—Feb. 2 — and the question he's supposed to decide is whether or not spring will come early or late.

But the Wisconsin motor vehicle department isn't banking on this shadowy reasoning. The state motor vehicle department says bluntly, "We can expect at least six weeks more of winter weather—and that means anything can happen."

Don't ever store your tire chains away. Keep chains in the trunk. They may get you through a February or March blizzard. These late winter blizzards are often the worst.

New London Man Denies Charge of Obstructing Police

Waupaca — Wayne W. Southard, route 1, New London, pleaded innocent of obstructing a policeman while performing his duty when he appeared before Justice George Whalen.

Southard was a passenger in a vehicle driven by James R. Brush, 27, 725 N. Division street, Appleton, who was stopped by police Jan. 2, in the town of Royalton on a speeding charge. Southard is charged with obstructing County Patrol Sgt. Loran Frazier who stopped the Brush vehicle.

Brush's case was heard before Justice Whalen and the defendant forfeited $16.50 bond on a speeding charge.

Southard requested a preliminary hearing which was set for Thursday before Justice Whalen. The defendant was released on $200 bond.

Okay Edison Turnaround

Board Hires Six New Teachers; Three More Resign

A 50-foot cul-de-sac (passage with only one outlet) on Eldorado street, giving room for a turnaround near Edison school, was approved by the school board Monday.

The cul-de-sac swings south into the playground area. The board also approved a playground site plan, showing a blacktop area 230 feet by 75 feet just south of the school, and two nearly equally-sized play fields for boys and girls just south of that area.

Three teacher resignations were accepted and six new teachers were hired by the board. The resignations include Mrs. Lisl Weiner, Roosevelt French teacher; Mrs. Jacqueline Foran, Richmond primary; and Mrs. Colleen Frassetto, Madison kindergarten.

The replacements are Miss Mary Olson, kindergarten; Miss Joan Virtue, kindergarten; Mrs. Freeda McCarter, elementary; Mrs. Doris Pribnow, half-time elementary; David L. Hansen, French; and Miss Celeste Pecile, French.

Supt. Mann asked the board to act as soon as possible on a new salary schedule so he can use it for bargaining purposes when interviewing new teachers. The education committee will meet soon to discuss raises, and will present the schedule to the board before Feb. 4, when Mann has an interview appointment.

Fox Lake Prison Bids to be Sought

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The state department of public welfare will probably call for bids in the spring for the construction of the first stage of the new medium security prison at Fox Lake in Dodge county.

Wilbur Schmidt, department director, said construction will start later this year. Completion of the building and its availability for occupancy will require more money than the $31,800,000 thus far made available. The construction will be started nevertheless, he said.

Tullar Area Voters Okay Bond Issue

in addition to the Tullar school if one were to be built.

A suggestion by one resident to postpone any action and to settle the bond issue by a referendum of the entire district was answered by Hirschy pointing out the meeting was properly announced and posted.

Another suggested investigating what the tax rate might be if the school joined the Neenah city system now instead of building its own addition. Another pointed out that junior high pupils would be sent to the Neenah junior high if the school were part of the city system. This would release some space for the other classes.

Some to Taft School? Moreover, it was argued by some, those in the Courtney court area no doubt would go to Taft school, leaving the Tullar school large enough if the district joined the city system.

Hirschy outlined the tax rate would run about $3 higher for each $1,000 of valuation to pay for the bond issue, not including the additional cost in operations.

The building cost would run about $130,000 and the equipment about $12,000 he estimated. Present debt of the district is about $100,000 and the district can bond up to another $162,000, the board chairman told the group.

He outlined that eliminating the kindergarten or taking any steps to join the Neenah system would have to be done at meetings specially called for those purposes or the annual meeting. Only the bond issue could be acted upon at Monday night's meeting.

Shares Fail To Hold Gains

Tone Steady in Early Trade Before Going Into Decline

New York — The stock market failed to maintain initial steadiness and went into a decline early this afternoon for the fifth straight session. Trading was moderately active.

Some leading issues were down as much as 2 or 3 points. Dupont, in a higher price bracket than the usual stock, slid half a dozen points.

Most of the losses went from fractions to about a point and there was no very great selling pressure although motors were pretty active on the downside.

Steels, rubbers, chemicals, rails, oils, airlines and electrical equipment were among the losers.

Tight money continued to be a factor cited for the decline by brokers. Others were the failure of the Dow Jones industrial average to follow through on its rise to a new high, profit taking on 1959's gainers and liquidation of some stocks to pay Jan. 15 income tax installments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down $1.10 to $227.10 with the industrials down $2.50, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up to 10 cents.

Corporate bonds had a slightly lower tendency in light trading.

U. S. government bonds were firm.

Northwestern '5' Topples Badgers

Shoots .526 From the Floor in Handing UW 4th League Loss

Madison — Northwestern's Willie Jones, who shot a 20-15 advantage, let it slide to 20-19 and then Wisconsin's fourth straight returned with a balanced and Big 10 conference basketball accurate scoring attack. defeat, 77-69, here Monday. The Badgers were helpless as Northwestern moved ahead, 30-21, in only three minutes and reached the halftime mark with a 38-27 bulge.

Five Northwestern players scored in double figures with Charles Brandt leading the game with 19 points. He was followed by teammate Floyd Campbell who had 17. Bob Barneson led Wisconsin scoring with 16. Jack Ullweiling had 11.

Wildcat Coach Bill Rohr watched his players continue their sharp-shooting until the score reached 77-60. With only three minutes left, he called off the attack by pulling the regulars for the reserves.

Monti Leads LA Open by Four Strokes

Los Angeles — The $37,500 Los Angeles Open turned toward its final phase today and it was just as well that the pace setter, Eric Monti of Los Angeles, forgot his fate in the event five years ago. In 1955 he held a 1-stroke lead over Gardner Dickinson of Florida going into the last round, and a lead of two strokes over California's Gene Littler. When the shooting was over, Littler was the winner with a 72-hole score of 276 and Monti, as well as Dickinson, wound up in a tie for eighth place at 282.

Monti, 41-year-old teaching professional at nearby Hillcrest Country club, had a 54-hole total of 205, eight under par, after Monday's play. Dow Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., had a 209.

Six shots back of leader were Dave Ragan and Bill Collins, at 211.

Many big names were far back. U.S. PGA champion Bob Rosburg started off today at 214. Art Wall, Jr., after a 74, had 216; the 1959 winner, Ken Venturi, 218; U.S. Open champion Bill Casper, 219, and Littler, 218.

Lamar Clark Sets Knockout Record With 44 Straight

Las Vegas, Nev. — Heavyweight Lamar Clark, bent on setting a new mark for consecutive knockouts, connected with a strong left to Kenny Hayden's temple Monday night and claimed sole possession of the record — with 44 straight kayos.

Clark, of Cedar City, Utah, previously shared the record with Billy Fox. Fox, a light heavyweight, got his forty-third during World War II.

Clark weighed 166 for the scheduled 6-rounder; Hayden, of Los Angeles, 155. Clark caught Hayden after only 30 seconds of the first round.

Los Vegas, Nev. — Charley Powell, 218½, San Diego, Calif., and Howard King, 186, Reno, Nev., drew, 10.

Xavier Whips Manitowoc's Lutheran '5'

Eight Hawks Hit Six or More Points or More In 75-42 Victory

Eight players hit six or more points apiece for Xavier Catholic High school's Hawks in a 75-42 outclassed Manitowoc Lutheran in the Appleton school's gym Monday night.

The triumph broke an Xavier losing streak at three games and made the freshman-sophomore Hawks' record against 4-year schools 6-3. Manitowoc Lutheran is now 3-5 on the season.

Forward "Chuck" Lueck the Hawks in scoring with 14 points, the first time in five games that Paul Zeegers didn't own that honor. Zeegers, who played center, guard and forward, fouled out after hitting eight points.

The Hawks pressed Manitowoc Lutheran quite a bit of the way and led, 15-9, at the quarter and 31-14 at the half.

Center Kerry Young tossed in 11 points and turned in a good rebounding job. Freshman guards Dick Wiesner and Pete Zanig each hit nine markers.

Clever Lancer guard Lyle Schneider had little trouble with the Xavier press and scored 22 points.

Xavier's next game is a home affair with Oshkosh Lourdes Sunday afternoon.

Dischinger Counts 43, But Boilermakers Fall

Iowa Gains Second By Toppling Spartans, 92-79

By The Associated Press

The greatest individual scoring effort in Purdue basketball history Monday night wasn't enough to gain the Boilermakers a victory.

Terry Dischinger popped in 43 points but Illinois defeated Purdue 81-75. The output gave Dischinger a total of 324 points in 12 games. The 6-6 sophomore from Terre Haute has already broken the Boilermaker season record of 302 points set by Joe Sesson in 22 games during the 1953-54 campaign.

The loss cost Purdue a chance of moving into first place in the Big Ten basketball race since Ohio State (2-0) was engaged in a 109-38 non-conference drubbing of Delaware and Michigan State dropped a 92-79 decision to Iowa.

Pro Bowl '11s' Drilling Under Drippy Skies

Unitas in Top Form as Hickey Stresses Passing

Los Angeles — The East and West teams prepping for Sunday's Pro bowl football classic faced another foe today — drippy skies.

Heavy showers began soaking southern California Monday night and the weatherman, who has a penchant for quoting odds, said there was a 70 per cent chance the rain would last all day today.

The squads drilled under threatening skies Monday.

Stresses Passing

Coach Howard "Red" Hickey of the West emphasized passing, and observers said quarterback Johnny Unitas of Baltimore was throwing in top form. His favorite receivers seemed to be Ray Berry of Baltimore and Del Shofner of Los Angeles.

"Buck" Shaw turned to defensive strategy in the Eastern camp. Four New York Giants — Andy Robustelli, Sam Huff, Lindon Crow and Jim Patton — were prominently deployed.

The Giants were the toughest team to move or score on in the National Football league last year.

The odds-makers have installed the West as a 3½ point favorite. The series stands five, East four. The East won, 28-21, last year.

Bobcats Face Marquette '6'

Play First Home Game Without Johnson Tonight

Green Bay — Green Bay's Bobcats put an 8-game winning streak on the line at Brown county arena tonight against the last team to beat them, the Marquette Sentinels.

The Sentinels shaded the league-leading Bobcats for the second time in a row, on Marquette ice, 7-6.

Since that Dec. 17 loss to Marquette, the Bobcats have won six straight league starts, plus a pair of exhibition victories over the Canadian Soo Indians.

The Bobcats will be making their first home appearance without the league's leading scorer, Paul Johnson, who left Jan. 4 to join the United States Olympic hockey team. He returns Sunday night, however, in an Olympic uniform to oppose his old teammates in the Olympians' only Wisconsin showing before competing in the 1960 Winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif., Feb. 18-28.

In the two games since Johnson's departure, Jackie Poole has proved a worthy successor. He scored six goals to lead the Bobcats' offensive in their double victory over Des Moines.

Minneapolis-St. Paul Makes $1,000,000 Franchise Pitch

Berth Would Represent Three Groups

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Minneapolis-St. Paul will make a million dollar pitch for a franchise in the National Football league at the league's meetings in Miami next week.

Official announcement of the Twin Cities' bid was to be made later today. Here's the story, via a good source: A large delegation, headed by city officials of Minneapolis and St. Paul, will invade Miami with the official application. A plane will be chartered for the trip.

Unified Bid

The Twin Cities will make a unified bid in that the franchise would represent three groups — Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth-outstate. Minneapolis is putting up $600,000, St. Paul, $300,000, and Duluth-outstate $100,000. Thus, the franchise will have a cool $1,000,000 as a starter toward a future in the NFL. Vikes, Bucs Renew MC Cage Rivalry Tonight

Beloit Still in Running for Title; Knocke Ranks 8th in League Scoring

Tonight, Lawrence and Beloit colleges meet in a Midwest conference basketball game for the first time in nine years.

The Wisconsin rivals will battle at 7:30 p.m. at Beloit. A Vike-Buc freshman game will precede the main event.

The Vikes played Beloit twice last year—with the Bucs winning both, narrowly — but the games did not count in the standings since the Bucs' reinstatement was not official until 1959-60.

Still in Running

Beloit, which won or shared six straight cage titles prior to its ouster from the conference in 1951, is still in the title running in this, its "comeback," season. The Bucs, who are 5-5 overall, have a 5-3 league record—two games shy of first place Monmouth's pace.

The Bucs' conference conquerors have been Cornell (which ended a Beloit MC winning streak at 47 straight), Grinnell and Monmouth. Non-conference Whitewater and Northern Illinois have also beaten the Bucs.

Lawrence has a 2-7 season standard, and its ninth-place league record is 2-5.

Good Height

The Bill Knapton-coached Bucs feature balanced scoring, good height and good defensive play. Tom Rath, 6-foot-5 center, leads the team in scoring, (with a 12.7-point average for each of 10 games) and in rebounding (with a rate of 10 a game).

Other top Buc scorers include 6-1 Bill Biederman and 6-1 Dennis Hodge. Bob Winkler, 6-5 soph, has broken into the starting lineup within the last few weeks.

Treasurer Les Engleman was reelected to that post. Elected to 2-year terms as directors were William Olson, Larry Lawrence, Dick Rickert, Earlin Ashman and Ray Kettner. Elected directors for 1-year terms were Dick Kranszuch and Joseph Frinkel.

Jim Kranzsch, club secretary, was named chairman of this year's fisherman's party.

Kansas State and Kentucky Triumph

Rupp's Club Knocks Tulane Out Of Lead; West Virginia Wins

By The Associated Press

Basketball perennials Kentucky and Kansas State, put out to pasture by the experts a couple weeks ago, are perk-ing up these days like the old fire horses when he hears the alarm.

Kansas State, the nation's top-ranking team a year ago, was put away after losing four of its first five this season. Now the Cats have taken seven of their last eight, five in a row, and hold their ac-cus-tomed first place spot in the Big Eight conference after whipping Oklahoma State at Stillwater, 54-49, Monday night.

As for "Baron" Adolph Rupp's Kentuckians, they dropped three of their first seven, then were spilled by Georgia Tech in their South-eastern conference opener Jan. 2. They've come back to win three SEC games in a row for a 9-4 over-all mark, top-ping the return-to-usual-Ken-tucky-form in a 68-42 romp Monday night that knocked Tulane out of first place.

6th Ranked

Georgia Tech, sixth-ranked nationally with an 11-1 record, still tops Kentucky in the SEC, 3-0 to 3-1, after routing Mississippi, 91-66, but the En-gineers know Kentucky will be no cinch the rest of the way. Kansas State also has its

Wants to Know What's Going on

Johansson to Talk With Authorities On Title Fight Plans This Week

BY JACK HAND

New York —Ingemar Johansson, the world heavy-weight champion, wants to know exactly what is going on. He is not alone.

The New York State at-torney general's office is in-terested. So is the New York State Athletic commission. Also Frank Hogan, the New York county district at-torney.

Depending on the outcome of the conversations with these three authorities he will or will not give Floyd Pat-terson a chance to win back the title in New York in June.

Shook Hands

Johansson arrived Sunday night from Sweden with his adviser, Edwin Ahlquist. He appeared Monday at a luncheon to accept the 1959 "Sports-man of the Year" award from Sports Illustrated magazine. He will be appearing before various authorities the rest of the week.

The champ said he had no appointments with Roy Cohn's new 8-man promotion-al group that bought the re-match agreement originally held by Rosensohn enterpris-es. Cohn's group recently vis-ited Johansson in Sweden and reported everybody was real-ly, the champ is anxious to get his hands on it.

The Cohn group has applied for a promoter's license but the commission has taken no action as yet. No rematch contract is on file with the commission.

The matter of the ancillary rights—held by Floyd Pat-terson Enterprises and turned over to a closed circuit TV company in the first fight—is a stumbling block. If the same deal is in effect in a re-match contract, the promot-ers may have trouble getting New York's commission. Nat-

St. Mary Graders Top St. Patrick

The St. Mary of Appleton eighth grade basketball team defeated St. Patrick of Menasha, 36-29, Sunday night in the St. Mary gym.

The Colts led at the half, 20-18, in the Catholic Boy con-ference game. Paul Putzer paced the victors with 10 points while Crawford scored 12 points for the losers. St. Mary is now 3-2 in the league.

The St. Mary "B" squad won, 16-15, as Fran Murphy counted five markers. The St. Mary "Bs" are 3-3.

Bearcats, Bears Remain 1-2 in Cage Ratings

Ohio State Gains Fifth Spot as Utah Drops to 7th

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati's unbeaten Bearcats and California's once-beaten Bears remain 1-2 in the weekly Associated Press ranking of the nation's college basketball teams.

Texas A & M and Villanova moved up into the top ten for the first time as they carried their perfect records well into January, and Illinois and Wake Forest dropped out in the major changes in the new weekly accounting.

The Texas Aggies overcame Baylor and Texas Christian last week for a 10-0 record and gained eighth place, formerly held by Wake Forest, and Villanova (9-0) took ninth from Illinois.

Other Change
The only other change in The Associated Press poll rankings, based on the votes of 174 sports writers and broadcasters, was Ohio State switching places with Utah, the Buckeyes moving up to fifth and the Utes dropping to seventh.

The voting for the first four places almost duplicated that of a week ago. Cincinnati, drawing first place votes from 147 of the 174 experts, polled a total of 1,716 points to California's 1,455. West Virginia, runner-up to California in the NCAA championship last spring, continued in third with 1,356 and Bradley was fourth with 1,035.

The top ten based on 10 points for first, nine for second, etc., with first places vote in parentheses:

Senate Group Will Invite Johansson

Champ to be Asked What He Knows Of Shady Dealings

Washington — World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson will be invited to tell a senate monopoly subcommittee what he's learned about shady dealings at boxing's highest level, the Washington Post said today.

"We'll be accused of demagoguery for bringing in a headline figure like Johansson to testify," said subcommittee counsel Dan Dixon.

But who is in a better position to tell what's going on at the highest level?
Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the subcommittee, has marked boxing for an early investigation, but no date has been set for hearings. The Post said Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey and Rocky Marciano also would be asked to testify.

"We think Johansson can help us because he seems to be a fellow who speaks for himself," Dixon said.

Johansson arrived in New York Sunday night.

Cannon Says Oiler Pact Is the Only Binding One

New Orleans — "I Los Angeles Rams of the National Football league.

"I do know some boys over in Hawaii had signed with two clubs and the NFL team is going to let them play with the AFL (the American Football League)." Cannon told newsmen when he passed through here en route to Baton Rouge from Honolulu where he starred in Sunday's Hula bowl game.

Cannon said he believed the only binding contract he signed was with the Houston Oilers of the AFL. He said he signed it just after the Sugar bowl game Jan. 1.

The Rams, who made Cannon the No. 1 choice in the NFL draft, filed suit in federal court in Los Angeles to prove their contract with him is valid.

Pete Rozelle, general manager of the Rams, claims that on Nov. 30 Cannon signed contracts for 1960, 1961 and 1962.

PSC Won't Make Stretch of River Non-Navigable

Madison — The Public Service Commission Monday turned down a request by 17 Waushara county farmers who asked that a stretch of the White river be declared non-navigable. The land owners contended that trout fishermen were damaging fences and other property.

If the request had been granted, it would have blocked use of the west branch of the stream by fishermen who now enter at highway bridges and wade to promising spots.

A commission order of 1923 held the stream to be navigable and the agency said in its findings of fact that a canoe had floated down the stretch during a low water period in 1958, several months after the petition was filed.

FVL Jayvees Triumph, 46-37

The Fox Valley Lutheran junior varsity basketball team defeated the JVs of Wisconsin Lutheran, Milwaukee, 46-37, in its latest start.

The Foxes hit just 14 percent of their first-half shots but warmed up to 36 percent in the second half. They were ahead only 23-22 after three quarters. Dave Schweppe had 13 points and 16 rebounds for the winners.

ete Hosene, general manager of the Rams, claims that on Nov. 30 Cannon signed contracts for 1960, 1961 and

Texas Invites NCAA Probe Of 'Dirty Play'

Austin, Tex. — The University of Texas has asked the NCAA to investigate the charges of "dirty play" hurled against Texas following the Cotton bowl game.

Dr. Logan Wilson, president, said Monday he was convinced after investigation "that the charges are irresponsible, false and slanderous."

Athletic Director Lew Andrews of the University of Syracuse, Texas' foe in the Cotton Bowl, said at Syracuse: "No member of the Syracuse university administration, nor any member of its coaching staff, ever has accused the Texas team of playing 'dirty football' in the Cotton bowl game."

Syracuse trimmed Texas 23-14, in a hard-fought game New Year's day. Charges of "dirty play" were tossed about following the game by various news media.

Providence, R. I. — George Maddox, 153½, Hyannis, Mass., outpointed Jackson Brown, 156, Roxbury, Mass., 10.

Minneapolis, St. Paul Set For Big Pitch

stadium set — the new Metropolitan stadium where the Packers annually play an exhibition game. The Cardinals played two league games there last season.

First Time
The major problem was in getting Minneapolis and St. Paul together and observers there claim this is the first time the rival cities ever got together on anything.

Next in line was the problem of getting an official release from the American Football league. Twin Cities originally planned to enter the AFL — in fact, that league's first draft was held in Minneapolis — but the circuit withdrew, opening the door for a shot at the NFL. Release from the AFL — in writing — has now been received.

The NFL has strong support in the Twin Cities since that area has annually received a taste of "live," National league competition. The Packers have played there off and on for the last 20 years.

By Winter
The Twin Cities' application will be signed by Max Winter of Minneapolis, one of the TCs' most ardent backers of pro football, and Ollie Haugrud, a Duluth sportsman, who held a franchise in the league for Duluth back in the '20s. The late Bert Bell promised Haugrud that if the NFL ever granted a franchise in Minnesota it would go to him. Ollie now is sort of honorary applicant.

The National league is interested — at least most of the clubs are — in adding two franchises, Minneapolis - St. Paul and Dallas.

Minnesota delegates have no assurance that they'll leave Miami with a franchise but they plan to make a strong bid and possibly "sell" the league on the idea.

NFL representatives are expected to have a big fight on expansion, based chiefly on the arguments of Redskin owner George P. Marshall who is opposed to adding any new clubs now.

The Packers, General Manager Coach Vince Lombardi said the other day, are in favor of expansion. The Minneapolis-St. Paul team would be another natural rival for the Packers — just as the Bears and Cardinals.

The problem of realignment of divisions will enter into discussions of expansion. And this could be a hot potato because the western division club like those big pay checks out of Los Angeles and San Francisco.

At any rate, Minneapolis-St. Paul is waiting in the wings — with a million bucks!

Hervath Passes Hull, Regains Scoring Lead

Montreal — Bronco Hervath has regained the National Hockey league scoring lead, according to statistics released today.

Hervath, Boston Bruins' center, has scored 52 points, two more than Chicago's Bobby Hull who led a week ago.

The Bruins' star also leads the NHL in goals with 27 while New York's Andy Bathgate, third in scoring with 48 points, tops the assist column with 31.

Hull has 24 goals and 26 assists. Montreal's Jacques Plante tops the goalies with a 2.43 goals-against average.

Gonzales Says He Will Quit This Summer

Los Angeles — Professional tennis champion Pancho Gonzales says he's had enough. He plans to quit this summer.

"I'm tired of traveling," the 31-year-old world titlist said in an interview. "I'm going to marry Madelyn Darrow (a 23-year-old model) in June, then settle here permanently and go into real estate. I'll study to get my license."

"If I make any tennis appearances, they'll be strictly local. I've been on the move for 12 years, in amateur and pro tennis. I've had it."

This Pencil-Paper Game Follows Dictionary Style

BY CAPPY DICK

I know a pencil-and-paper game that is fun to play after school and on Saturdays. It's called the dictionary game.
It requires speed and accuracy in arranging a list of words alphabetically as in the dictionary.

There may be two or more players. They sit around a table. If only two are playing, they sit opposite each other.
Each player has a pencil and two pieces of paper.

First, each player makes a list of 25 words—five columns with five words in each column. The words may be any the player chooses, but he should use words that will make it as hard as possible for the one who gets the list to put them in alphabetical order.

If you use several words that are alike in the first two or three letters, this will make it more difficult than if you allow words that all begin with different letters. For example, if you use "banister," "banter" and "bank" the player who must put the list in alphabetical order will have to watch carefully or he'll get them out of place.

When the lists have been made, each player passes his list to his neighbor on his right. As soon as the lists have been exchanged, each player starts to work, writing the words on his second piece of paper in strict alphabetic order as they are in the dictionary. The player who correctly completes his list first is the winner.

A variation of this game is for the players to make lists of numbers, big and small, and to pass their lists to their neighbors, whereupon all players rewrite the numbers in numerical order.

Post-Crescent News Service
Milwaukee — Vice President Richard Nixon feels he will be required to file in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary in order to present a serious face to the country as the Republicans' leading presidential candidate.

That was the authoritative report communicated here during the weekend to the committee of leading Wisconsin Republicans preparing stand-by machinery for a campaign in this state on behalf of the vice president. The April preferential primary will choose 30 Wisconsin delegates for the Republican national convention at Chicago next July.

It was learned, however, that Nixon's decision about Wisconsin probably won't be final until next month and that the names of his delegate slate won't be made public until late February.

There had been speculation it might be unwise for the vice president, unopposed as he is in the party, to avoid a Wisconsin filing because of the prospect of lively Democratic ballot competition here. There is a corresponding outlook the Democrats would heavily out-poll the Republicans and thereby damage Nixon's prestige in the eyes of the country.

Harvey Higley of Marinette, former high government officer in the Eisenhower administration, is head of the Nixon campaign group here which is ready to swing into action upon his signal.

Among the members of the strategy group conferring here was Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield, one of Nixon's close associates in Washington. Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, another leader of the group, did not attend.

Icy Conditions Force Rural School Closing

More Rain Expected To Fall in State; Colder Wednesday

A glaze of ice on roads in rural areas of the Fox Cities region caused cancellation of school for some children who go to class in buses today.

Traffic on main thoroughfares in the county and most streets in the city reduced the glaze to slush or water.

Traffic in Clintonville was nearly at a stand-still with wreckers being kept busy retrieving automobiles from ditches. Farmers' tractors were being enlisted in the hauling jobs as well.

The icy condition was especially bad north and west of Clintonville.

New London schools were open, but rural students off the main thoroughfares had a day off. Two buses reported they were stalled on icy hills and sand trucks were dispatched to rescue them.

At Seymour, public schools were closed but the parochial schools, with most of their pupils living in the city, were open.

Calumet county reported the condition of the highways as being good by early morning after glaze made travel hazardous during the night.

Schools were in session.

By mid-morning, the freezing rain had turned to mist and a heavy fog was rolling in.

Appleton had four accidents and the county three from the time it began to get slippery around 10 p.m. Monday night. None were regarded as serious.

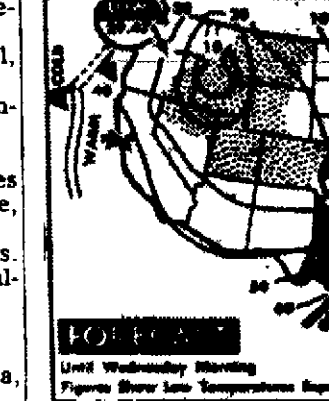

Road crews were out with sanding equipment on curves and intersections during the night.

Driving conditions in the county are slippery, but traffic is moving without too much trouble, Ronald Decker, county police captain, said. Decker and Appleton Police Chief Walter Hendricks urged motorists to drive with care.

The famed "January thaw," often brings unseasonable weather to much of the United States about the third week in January.

Temperatures usually start rising near Jan. 20. Weather scientists have failed to find an explanation for the strange midwinter phenomenon, though it was mentioned in American literature as early as 1798.

It will be colder tonight in Oregon, Nevada and Utah. It will be warmer in the upper Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley, Wisconsin, Illinois and Nebraska. Snow is expected in western New York and northern Minnesota. Rain will fall in the Great Lakes area.

$37,000 Surplus in School Accounts at End of 1959

A predicted surplus of about $37,000 in the school income for 1959 proved nearly correct, Director of Business Affairs William R. Knuth reported Monday.

Knuth said at budget time that income would be about $37,000 more than anticipated, leaving a larger balance than usual at the beginning of this budget year. Expenses were $2,641,469, compared to total receipts of $2,678,857, leaving a $37,388 balance. Receipts had been budgeted about $37,000 less, but due to unexpected state revenues they were boosted late in 1959 to the higher figure, he said.

Largest share of income was received from Appleton property taxes. The school tax levy alone totaled $2,207,018, compared to $1,981,633 the previous year.

Teaching salaries accounted for about $1,990,000 of the total expenses, with general operations of the school system's extensive plant costing another $281,000. Other expenses included maintenance, auxiliary services such as health and meals, insurance and social security, transportation and new equipment and sites.

Three of the schools' 10 special funds showed deficits at the end of the year, but the total balance was $7,616 in the black. Deficits are in the textbook rental fund, $3,473.89, and elementary textbook rental fund, $13,531.94. The milk fund showed a credit of $719.

Supt. Mann said increased enrollments in the last few years have forced the system to buy more books. There were no budgetary provisions for them. Because rentals pay for books after their purchase, the fund shows a large deficit now.

The funds totaled $33,363 at the beginning of the year and $7,616 at the end, with slight decreases noted in almost every fund.

Men Change Concept of God To Suit Needs

Pastor Says They Try to Meet Him On Their Own Terms

"The world today, in spite of all of our intelligence and 'knowhow,' is not a very comfortable place in which to live. This may account in part for the growing interest in religion on the part of many people," the Rev. Franklin E. Schluter, pastor of Rev. Schluter Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren church, told his congregation Sunday.

"If we pray for help, we Americans do not feel the need of praying, 'Give us this day our daily bread.' We would like to include 'Forgive us our debts,' but we would just as soon omit 'As we forgive our debtors.'"

"After we rush into temptation with our eyes open and find ourselves in a tight place, we cry out to God, 'Deliver us from evil' but we do not add, 'For thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory forever.'"

Superficial Prayer

The Rev. Mr. Schluter said prayer is laudable, but alone will not solve our national and personal problems. It must be followed by action worthy of the prayers we offer.

"Much of the praying we do and the religion we claim to possess is a sort of generalized and superficial approach toward meeting the needs and demands of our times," he said.

"What most of us seem to want is a 'packaged religion,' a God who is understandable and manageable, a God who comforts, eases our pains and burdens, stills life's storms, and helps us to successful living according to our own terms, a jolly good fellow who does not interfere with our 'rock and roll' way of living but stays 'up stairs' subject to call on short notice."

"Such a God and religion only beclouds the very nature of God and man," he said. "Here we have God made in the image of man, not man made in the image of God. A God who can be managed leads to people who can be managed, good material for dictators, opening up the wide and downward way that leads to destruction."

Man and God

When God created the world he called it good, but man, often used his power and initiative recklessly and ignorantly, he said.

"Good people need to approach goodness in a positive way, take the initiative and not barricade it in their parochial establishments. Good people have to pray that they do not become obnoxious 'do-gooders,' but remain humble, acting wisely, fitting the goodness in keeping with the situation at hand, combining zeal with knowledge."
